

THE HOMESCHOOL RESOURCE ROADMAP COMMON CORE PROJECT

OTHER RESPONSES

I was unable to place these companies onto any of the main lists. Please make note of the reason for each company.

If you choose to contact any of these companies on your own, I recommend asking all of the following questions in order to help you discern the CCS status of its products:

Have you already altered any materials - in whole or in part - for the purpose of aligning with the CCS/NGSS? If so, which materials? What, specifically have you changed?

Do you have future plans to alter any of your materials in order to align with the CCS/NGSS? If so, which materials and what specific changes are you planning to make? When will you make the changes?

If you haven't made any content changes, have you instead chosen to correlate to the CCS/NGSS? That is, have you created public/advertising documents showing where your products - as written - happen to match particular aspects of the CCS/NGSS?

Even if the materials that you actually write/create do not align, do you use any resources from other vendors to supplement your products? If so, which products/companies? Are you aware of those companies' positions relative to the CCS/NGSS? (If you learn that a company supplements with resources from other vendors, you can check The Roadmap's lists to learn whether or not those resources are independent of, correlated to, or aligned with the CCS/NGSS.)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1.	A10	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
2.	ABeCeDarian	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

3.	AbiTalk	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
4.	Academic Tutoring Centers	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
5.	All Kids Network	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
6.	All Science Fair Projects	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
7.	Al Tilmeedh Publications	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
8.	Amazing Academy	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
9.	Amazon Studios	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

10.	American Vision, The	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
11.	Any Novel Novel Study Guide	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
12.	Apples4theteacher	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
13.	Art for Kids Hub	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
14.	Audio-Visual Drawing Program	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
15.	AZ Coloring	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
16.	Back-to-Homeschool Magazine	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
17.	Balancing the Sword	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
18.	Beyond Phonics	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
19.	Bible History	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
20.	BibleWriter (Kirsten Joy Torrado)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
21.	Biology4Kids (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
22.	Blue Apple Press	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
23.	Bonjour Tonton! (The Language Tortoise)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
24.	Bookrags	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
25.	Brainetics	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
26.	Bramley Books	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
27.	Breakaway Books	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
28.	Bricks4Kidz	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
29.	Bringing Up Learners	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
30.	Cartoon Network	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
31.	Chalk Preschool	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		(via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
32.	Chaney Electronics, Inc.	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
33.	Characters of Character	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
34.	Chem4Kids (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
35.	Classical Learning Resource Center (CLRC)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
36.	Constituting America	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
37.	Cookie	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
38.	Cosmos4Kids (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
39.	Crafty Classroom, The	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
40.	Crayola	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
41.	Creation Education Center	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
42.	CSI Online Academy	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
43.	Cullen's ABC'S	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
44.	Dadsworksheets.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
45.	Daily Grammar	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
46.	Dance Mat Typing Guide	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
47.	Deep Space Sparkle	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
48.	Discover Reading!	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
49.	Disney Educational Productions	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
50.	Disney Junior	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
51.	Dolphy Educational Games	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
52.	Don't Know Much About	This company replied to my queries indicating that it needs more time to formulate an official position in regards to the CCS/NGSS/C3. It has promised to get back to me when it is able to provide information about how they will proceed.
53.	DuoLingo	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
54.	Earth Scouts	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
55.	Education 4 Kids	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
56.	Emotional ABC's	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
57.	English Grammar 101 (Cingletree Learning)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
58.	English Grammar Online (EGO4U)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
59.	eReadingPro	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
60.	Erector (Meccano)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
61.	Faith Survival Guide	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
62.	Figure This!	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
63.	Flaster Venture	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
64.	For Girls Like You	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
65.	Fortuigence	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
66.	Freejazzlessons	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
67.	Furmanczyk Academy	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
68.	Future Filmmakers Club (Homeschool Movie Club)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
69.	Geography4Kids (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
70.	GetWorksheets.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
71.	Goliath Games (Pressman Toy Corporation)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
72.	Grammar Bytes!	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
73.	Grammarlogues	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		(via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
74.	Hardie Grant Egmont	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
75.	Harmonica Academy	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
76.	Harmony Fine Arts at Home	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
77.	History and Language Online	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
78.	Homeschool Entrepreneur	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
79.	Homeschool Helper Online	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
80.	Homeschool Movie Club	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
81.	Homeworkhelp.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
82.	HowToSingSmarter	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
83.	Inquiry in Action	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
84.	Internet Chess Club (ICC)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
85.	Inverse Software	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
86.	iShine	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		(via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
87.	Janome	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
88.	Jones &amp; Bartlett Learning	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
89.	Just Math Tutorials	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
90.	K-6 Geometric Shapes	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
91.	K12 Math Worksheets (k12publishing.com)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
92.	Kapla (Tom's Toys)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
93.	Kessinger Publishing	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
94.	Keynotes Education	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
95.	Kids Learning Station	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
96.	Knowledge Quest	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
97.	Kroc Centers (Salvation Army)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
98.	Kym Wright Unit Studies (Learn and Do Unit Studies)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
99.	La Clase Divertida	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
100.	Leap Year Publishing	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
101.	Learn and Do Unit Studies (Kym Wright)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
102.	Learning Backpack, The	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
103.	Lee Hammond Art	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
104.	Literative	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
105.	Live Online Math	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
106.	Mama's Learning Center	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
107.	Master Communications	This company would not allow me to publish its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. Thus, I recommend contacting it individually if interested in its materials.
108.	Master Karate Todd	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
109.	Math Cats	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
110.	Math Galaxy	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
111.	Mathmaster	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
112.	MathOps	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
113.	Math Planet	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
114.	Math with Larry (Zafran)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
115.	MathwithTD	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
116.	Math Worksheet Wizard	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
117.	Mayflower &amp; Me K-12 Curriculum (Sail 1620)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
118.	Mecanno (Erector)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
119.	Middle School Chemistry	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
120.	Miles Kelly	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
121.	MisterNumbers Pattern Play Math	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven

	RESOURCE	NOTES
	(EZ Times Tables)	(via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
122.	MrDonn	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
123.	Mr Printables	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
124.	Mrs. Perkins' Dolch Words	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
125.	Nelson Education	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
126.	NeoK12	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
127.	Nick Jr.	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
128.	No More Lemonade	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
129.	NumberNut (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
130.	Nurture Store	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
131.	Nutrition for Healthy Kids	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
132.	Nye, Bill	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
133.	Ollie Bollie Books	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
134.	Online Free Spanish	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES

	RESOURCE	NOTES
135.	Palmer Method, The	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
136.	Pandia Press	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
137.	Pangaea Learning	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
138.	Pearables	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
139.	Peep and the Big Wide World	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
140.	Physics4Kids (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
141.	PianoLessonsOnline	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
142.	Planet Science	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
143.	Planettutor	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
144.	Play n Talk	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
145.	Playskool	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
146.	Potter's School, The	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
147.	Power Typing	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
148.	Preschool Express	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
149.	Pressman Toy Corporation	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
150.	Printable Math Worksheets	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
151.	Professor in a Box	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
152.	ProntoLessons	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
153.	Proverbs 22:6 Academy	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
154.	puzzle-club.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
155.	Rader's Kapili.com (Andrew Rader Studios)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
156.	Raddish	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
157.	Revolution Prep	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
158.	Roy the Zebra	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
159.	Running Press (Perseus)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
160.	Russell-Pinson, Dan	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
161.	Schoolkid.Ph	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
162.	School of Dragons	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
163.	Semple Math	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
164.	Seussville	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
165.	Sevenstar Academy	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
166.	SparkNotes	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
167.	Spiral Scouts International	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
168.	Stamps Teach	This company replied to my queries indicating that it needs more time to formulate an official position in regards to the CCS/NGSS/C3. It has promised to get back to me when it is able to provide information about how they will proceed.
169.	Star Wars in the Classroom	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
170.	Sterling Children's Books	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
171.	Story Time for Me	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
172.	Sunya Publishing	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
173.	Super Simple Learning	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
174.	SwedishPod101	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
175.	Teaching Tree (Dollar Tree)	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
176.	Totally Tailored Reading	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
177.	ToyVey Toys	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual parents.
178.	TypingTutor-Online.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		(via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
179.	Understanding Algebra	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
180.	United States Military Explorers	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
181.	Universal Class	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
182.	Vocabulary.co.il (Time4Learning)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
183.	Wondrous Worksheets	This company has stated that it is not interested in sharing its position , either with me or with other individual

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		parents.
184.	Woodland Indian Educational Programs	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
185.	Woozzle Games	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
186.	Worksheetworks.com	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
187.	YMCA	This company opted not to provide information to me, indicating instead a desire to speak only with individual parents about its position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3.
188.	Yo Learnalot	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
189.	YoungBiz USA	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query . I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
190.	Young Entrepreneurs Academy	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not

	RESOURCE	NOTES
		respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.
191.	YWCA	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
192.	Zui (and KidZui)	This company was contacted multiple times - at least seven (via email and also, when possible, by phone and/or through Facebook) over the course of several months – and did not respond to any query. I cannot speculate as to why it has chosen not to reply, and I have no discernible way of knowing its position on the CCS/NGSS/C3. I welcome any response it may choose to provide at some point in the future. However, I believe I've given ample opportunity for each to respond and will not be sending additional queries.