

THE HOMESCHOOL RESOURCE ROADMAP COMMON CORE PROJECT

INDEPENDENT

These companies - listed in alphabetical order - have not changed anything in regards to the CCS/NGSS/C3 and intend to remain INDEPENDENT of the initiative. They may or may not know of ways in which their materials happen to somehow match some aspects of the CCS/NGSS/C3, but any such connections are purely circumstantial and the providers do not endorse/promote the initiative.

It must be noted that the lists simply indicate each company's position relative to the CCS/NGSS/C3. The coordinator of the research project does not endorse or reprove the use of any of these products and resources; it is up to each individual homeschool family to determine which materials - in any category - it should use.

Similarly, though I endeavor to be as accurate as possible, it is incumbent upon each family to do its own research because it's possible that the positions of some of these entities may change over time.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1.	1+1+1=1
2.	2Howling Monkeys
3.	3 Dinosaurs
4.	4 Little Penguins
5.	7 Sisters
6.	7SpeedReading (eReflect)
7.	7Spell (eReflect)
8.	12 Tone Music Publishing
9.	40 Day Prayer Covenant
10.	52 Bible Lessons
11.	77SPARX Studio	77SPARX Studio consults with teachers in product development and considered the CCS when it was first instituted. However, it ultimately decided against incorporating the initiative into its products.
12.	101 Series, The (Wes Olson)
13.	599CD (PC Learning Zone)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
14.	AAA Math
15.	AAA Spell (and Vocabulary)
16.	AAA Where
17.	Abadaba Alphabet
18.	Abbeville Press
19.	ABC Jesus Loves Me
20.	A Beka	A Beka's use of the term "Next-Generation" refers to the company's digital products . Neither A Beka's digital line nor its traditional products have any connection to the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) associated with the CCS or to any CCS-associated standards.
21.	A Beka Academy	A Beka's use of the term "Next-Generation" refers to the company's digital products . Neither A Beka's digital line nor its traditional products have any connection to the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) associated with the CCS or to any CCS-associated standards.
22.	Abiding Truth Ministry
23.	Ability Based Learning (Joyce Herzog)
24.	Abingdon Press
25.	Ablaze Publications (Worldview Matters)
26.	Abrome	Since Abrome "learners take full control and ownership of what they want to learn and how they want to learn," each student has complete control over what resources s/he chooses to use.
27.	Academic Associates Reading Program
28.	Academy of Science for Kids
29.	Accelerated Christian Education (ACE)	ACE offers foreign language study through Rosetta Stone, which is aligned to the CCS. Foreign language is an elective, not a program requirement, but it should be noted that Rosetta Stone is ACE's only option for foreign language.
30.	Accent and Acting Resources
31.	Aceable

32.	Acellus	Acellus has “developed courses that align to Common Core State Standards.” It “also offer[s] a non-Common Core edition for most...courses. Parents may select the version of the course that is best suited to their educational goals.”
33.	Adams Media (Simon & Schuster)	The content of most Adams Media books will not be adjusted for the CCS. However, in 2015 the company has published five books for parents about CCS content: The Everything Parent’s Guide to Common Core Math: Grades K-5 , The Everything Parent’s Guide to Common Core Math: Grades 6-8 , The Everything Parent’s Guide to Common Core ELA: Grades K-5 , The Everything Parent’s Guide to Common Core ELA: Grades 6-8 , and The Everything Parent’s Guide to Common Core Science: Grades 6-8 .
34.	Advanced Training Institute International (ATI)
35.	Advanced Writing Resouces (The Lybrand Writing Method)
36.	Advance Publishing
37.	Adventures from the Book of Virtues	The Adventures from the Book of Virtues videos were produced between 1996 and 2000 by William Bennett. Dr. Bennett, a strong proponent of the CCS , has subsequently founded K12, a curriculum that is CCS-aligned. However, the videos were produced more than a decade before the CCS was implemented and have not been revised to align.
38.	Adventures in Odyssey
39.	Adventure Publications
40.	Adventures of the Northwoods Series (Mott Media Publishing)
41.	Aetherlight, The
42.	Africa World Press/The Red Sea Press
43.	Agape Catholic Bible Study
44.	Aiko & Egor (See Beneath)
45.	Aim Academy (Debra Bell)	Aim Academy offers AP courses, which are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. However, it's worth noting that all AP courses must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, Aim Academy may have to make related changes as well. Similarly, Aim Academy prepares students for CLEP, ACT, and SAT testing. As such, if/when those tests align to the CCS, Aim may need to make some changes to its course content.

46.	AKA Homeschool Mom
47.	Albert's Insomnia
48.	Alef Press
49.	ALEKS	ALEKS has a number of aligned courses and some “traditional” (non-aligned) ones. I recommend checking directly with the company to determine the status of particular courses.
50.	ALERT Cadet
51.	ALEX Brands
52.	Alfa Typing
53.	Alfred Music
54.	Algebra for Breakfast
55.	ALISON	ALISON courses are actually prepared by over 100 outside vendors and are simply aggregated through ALISON. At least some of the providers (i.e., Khan Academy, Saylor) are aligned with the CCS, and others (i.e., OpenStax) are known to be correlated. Potential users should check with an individual provider in terms of its CCS stance before proceeding.
56.	All About GOD
57.	All About History
58.	All About Learning Press All About Spelling All About Reading
59.	All American History (Bright Ideas Press)
60.	Allon Books
61.	All the Right Type 4 Online (Ingenuity Works)
62.	Alphablocks	Alphablocks is “is based on the Early Years

		Foundation Stage phonics programme taught in Reception in the United Kingdom” rather than any US standards.
63.	Alpha-Omega (AOP) Horizons Ignitia LIFEPAC Monarch Switched-On Schoolhouse Weaver	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines.
64.	Alpha Omega Institute (AOI)
65.	AlphaBetter (School Made Simple)	IND
66.	Alpha-Phonics
67.	Always Ice Cream	Content produced by Always Ice Cream is independent of the CCS. However, the site allows users to post suggested video content, some of which comes from sources aligned with or correlated to the CCS.
68.	Amanda Bennett
69.	Amazing Bible Timeline
70.	Ambleside Online	The Ambleside Online Advisory has directed interested parties to gauge the intent and content of AO's program based on its website rather than on a statement from them. Being familiar with AO and having examined the site, I know there is no direct CCS-alignment, but I did discover that AO recommends some math programs that are aligned. Of course, it also recommends some that are not, so AO users have clear choices in that regard.
71.	Ambrose Video
72.	American Girl	American Girl does include a miniature version of a CCS-aligned Pearson textbook in one doll accessory kit . But in terms of its books and magazine, the company “does not officially submit to any curriculum or educational standards” at this time. It may decide to do so at some point in the future, but has no immediate plans for such and endeavor.
73.	American Heritage Education Foundation	Materials produced by the non-profit AHEF are currently independent of the CCS. However, it may eventually show correlations (after the social studies CCS are developed).

74.	American Heritage Girls
75.	American Home-School Publishing
76.	American Language Reading Program (Lighthouse Publishers)
77.	American Technical Publishers
78.	American View, The (Institute on the Constitution)
79.	America's Christian History
80.	America's Math Teacher (Math Essentials)
81.	AMES International School of Ministry
82.	AMG Publishers
83.	Ampersand Press
84.	Analytical Grammar
85.	Aneko Press
86.	Angelicum Curriculum (Great Books Academy)	Angelicum Curriculum uses some pre-CCS versions of resources that are now aligned. It has purchased as many older books as possible and is committed to not using any CCS-related resources. If it becomes impossible to find pre-CCS editions of what it currently uses, it will replace those books with non-CCS ones.
87.	Animal Trackers Club
88.	Animated Hebrew
89.	Animating Kids!
90.	Animation Chefs
91.	Animation Course, The
92.	Anness Publishing (Southwater)
93.	Answers in Genesis
94.	Antiochian
95.	AplusMath
96.	Apologetics Press
97.	Apologia
98.	Applesauce Press (Cider Mill Books)
99.	Applewood Books
100.	Applied Grammar

101.	Applied Inspirations
102.	Aquinas Academy (based in Delaware)
103.	Archaeology and the Bible (ChristianAnswers.net)
104.	Arithmetic Village
105.	Armfield Academic Press
106.	Around the World in 180 Days (Apologia)
107.	Arquilevich, Gabriel
108.	Arsenal Pulp Press
109.	Artios
110.	Artistic Pursuits
111.	Artist's Way, The (Julia Cameron)
112.	ArtK12
113.	Art of Eloquence
114.	Art of Problem Solving	The Art of Problem Solving materials are developed for “high-performing math students, for whom state standards, be they the CCS or others, are typically insufficient. [Its] materials go far beyond state standards (although sometimes [it covers] topics in different orders than the standards), so [it doesn't] worry so much about precisely aligning to this set of standards or that one.” The owner of this company also owns Beast Academy, which is CCS-aligned.
115.	Artpac (Share-a-Care)
116.	Artsonia	Artsonia is currently independent of the CCS, though it may decide to make changes in Summer 2015.
117.	Artsy Startsy
118.	Artterro
119.	Ascension Press
120.	Ashley Preston Publishing
121.	AskDrCallahan.com	AskDrCallahan.com may show CCS correlations at some point in the future, but only if there is a customer demand for it.

122.	Aslan Academy (C.S. Lewis Institute)
123.	ASL Nook	ASL Nook may correlate to the CCS at some point in the future, but has no current plans to do so.
124.	Atelier Homeschool Art
125.	Auditory Integration Training Services (AITS)
126.	Augsburg Fortress
127.	Aunt Ruth Grammar (Gennesaret Press)
128.	Autism Smiles
129.	Auto Upkeep Homeschool Curriculum (Rolling Hills Publishing)	Auto Upkeep is currently not aligned or correlated with the CCS. However, the company has not yet determined if it will eventually change any content to align or show correlations. The publisher needs to fully evaluate the CCS before making those determinations.
130.	Avancemos! (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt)	Though a majority of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt product lines are aligned with the CCS, its World Languages resources remain independent of the initiative.
131.	AVKO Handwriting (AVKO Foundation)
132.	AVKO Keyboarding (AVKO Foundation)
133.	AVKO Reading (AVKO Foundation)
134.	AWANA
135.	Awana Homeschool
136.	Awesome Science Media
137.	Axis Virtual
138.	Ayres Spelling (Mott Media Publishing)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
139.	Babbel
140.	Babble Dabble Do	As of Winter 2016, Babble Dabble Do is independent of the CCS. The resource's creator does want to alter her products to align "but at this point [she doesn't] have a timeline for it."

141.	Back Home Industries (BHI)
142.	Baden-Powell Service Association
143.	Baker Publishing Group
144.	Baldwin Project, The (Yesterday's Classics)	The Baldwin Project is a subsidiary of Yesterday's Classics, which is independent of the CCS.
145.	B&H Publishing Group (LifeWay)
146.	Bandusia Tutorials	Bandusia Tutorials is committed to remaining independent of the CCS. As such, it must be noted that it utilizes a 2006 (pre-CCS) edition of The Write Source . New editions of The Write Source are correlated, but Bandusia will not use that or future correlated or aligned versions of the book.
147.	Banyan Literary & Art Magazine, The	In working with third-party vendors, Banyan will “always look for non-[CCS] aligned material. If anything is aligned [we] will do [our] best to provide a disclaimer to that effect so parents are aware.”
148.	Barbour Publishing
149.	Barclay Press
150.	Barefoot Ragamuffin Curricula
151.	Bari Koral Family Rock Band
152.	Barr None Music Publishers
153.	BASE Institute
154.	Basic Christian Education
155.	Basic Cozy Spelling Course, The (Cozy Grammar)
156.	Bastien (KJOS)
157.	Bazillions, The
158.	Beacon of Hope Online Schoolhouse
159.	Beautiful Feet
160.	Bechtel Books (Speedy Spanish)
161.	Bedell Curriculum
162.	Bee Bright	Bee Bright is based on UK standards.
163.	Beestar	Beestar would prefer and expects to remain independent of the CCS but will correlate or align if most site users began to request such changes.

164.	Beginning Advantage, A / A Reason for Handwriting A Reason for Reading A Reason for Science
165.	Beginnings Publishing
166.	Behold Your God
167.	Belhaven University High Scholars Program	The Belhaven University High Scholars Program uses only college-level books (which are, by definition, beyond the scope of the CCS) and materials written by Belhaven professors.
168.	Bellerophon Books
169.	Ben Tyhurst
170.	BereanBuilders Publishing	BereanBuilders opposes the CCS and currently only publishes material that is unaligned. As this new company adds authors, it will discourage them from writing to anything other than a biblical standard and that of creating “the best...material in the field.” It will not turn away any author with high-quality material even if it's been written to align with the CCS. But it “would insist they at a minimum publish a blog post stating that they did so and what their reason was for doing so.”
171.	Bethlehem Books
172.	Better Explained	Better Explained “may organize topics so people who are using existing standards can easily find the most appropriate ones,” but has not decided whether or not to do that and has no plans to address the CCS.
173.	BFH Handwriting
174.	Bible in Living Sound, The
175.	Bible Memory Time
176.	BibleMesh
177.	Bible Road Trip (Thinking Kid Press)
178.	Bible Study Fellowship
179.	Bible Study Guide for All Ages
180.	BibleWriter.com (John Sears Ministries)
181.	Biblical Archaeology Society	The Biblical Archeology Society has indicated that its materials are designed primarily for post-secondary use. As such, they have no connection to the CCS.

182.	Biblical Discipleship Ministries
183.	Biblioplan
184.	Bien dit! (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt)	Though a majority of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt product lines are aligned with the CCS, its World Languages resources remain independent of the initiative.
185.	Big Read, The (National Endowment for the Arts)	The Big Read resources were developed with pre-CCS NCTE (National Council of Teachers of English) standards in mind.
186.	Bilingual Books
187.	Bilingual Books for Kids
188.	Billy Graham Library	The Billy Graham Library advertises that its lesson plans “[meet] both North Carolina and federal education standards,” but this statement refers to the 1996 National Standards for History in the Schools and the North Carolina Essential Standards , both of which are different than the CCS/NGSS/C3.
189.	BioDigital
190.	Bird Cage Press
191.	Bitsbox	Bitsbox is “not currently aligned with the Common Core Standards and [does] not have any immediate plans to be so. It is something, [though, that its owners] have discussed and may be considering in the future.”
192.	Black Dog & Leventhal Publishers	Black Dog & Leventhal may consider correlations on a case-by-case basis with future publications, but has no plans to do so at this time.
193.	Blessed Heritage, A	A Blessed Heritage is not aligned and the publisher has no immediate plans to align any content. She may in the future consider some “details of the Common Core Standards that allow [her] to complete [her] personal commitment to [her] customers” - i.e., a “strong commitment to present to [them] the best in literature that tells a more inclusive portrayal of American history.” But at present she has no plans in that regard.
194.	Blessed is the Man (Lynda Coats)	Blessed is the Man (BITM) suggests an extensive array of resources, some of which are aligned with or correlated to the CCS. No particular resources are required, though, so one may avoid CCS-related material if desired. Users should cross-reference all BITM suggestions against the lists on this database.

195.	Blick Lesson Plans
196.	Blossoming Artists
197.	Blue Knights Boys' Club (Behold Publications)
198.	Blue Manor Academy	All material written by Blue Manor Academy and required as part of its curriculum is independent of the CCS. However, the company promotes – as optional supplements – several products produced by Learning Wrap-Ups, which is correlated to the CCS.
199.	Bluestocking Press
200.	Bluewood Books
201.	Bluewood Publishing
202.	Bolchazy-Carducci
203.	Book Adventure	Though Book Adventure is a subsidiary of the CCS-aligned Sylvan Learning, the company reports that, it is “not planning to be aligned or correlated with CCS.”
204.	Book in Time, A
205.	Books for Results
206.	Book of Acts, The (Cheri Gamble)
207.	Boulden Publishing	Boulden Publishing materials are aligned with standards for school counselors, not academic standards such as the CCS.
208.	Boundary Stone
209.	Boundless	Since all the content at Boundless is college-level, it does not address the CCS.
210.	Bowman Art
211.	Boy Scouts of America
212.	Boys' Life Magazine
213.	Bradley Sowash Music
214.	Brain Balance Centers
215.	BrainBeat

216.	BrainBuilder (Advanced Brain Technologies)
217.	Brain Candy TV	Brain Candy TV may consider aligning with the CCS/NGSS or other educational standards in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
218.	BrainFood Learning
219.	Brain Gym	Brain Gym would like to align its resources to the CCS, but has no immediate plans to do so.
220.	Brainjogging
221.	Brainy Baby (The Brainy Company)
222.	Brandenburg Studies
223.	Brave Writer
224.	Breaking News English
225.	Breaking the Barrier
226.	BRICTEK
227.	Bridgeway Homeschool Academy	“Bridgeway Academy works with parents and students to determine a customized curriculum package that would best suit each student. Advisors rely on the results of each student’s learning style assessment and their past experience with various types of curriculum when making recommendations. Although a few online resources that Bridgeway uses have some alignment to the CCS (i.e., ALEKS, Compass Learning), Bridgeway Academy has not aligned [its] use of that online content to the Common Core. In addition, parents may specifically request only non-aligned curriculum titles, and parental preferences in that regard are honored by the academy.” That said, Bridgeway also has a partnership with BJU Press, which is correlated to the CCS, and another partnership with Rosetta Stone, which is explicitly aligned. In terms of the program's AP courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to

		“reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Bridgeway Academy will have to make related changes as well.
228.	Bright Beginnings (Tammy A. Shaw)
229.	Bright Ideas Press
230.	Bright Ideas Press Academy (Bright Ideas Press)
231.	Bright Lights
232.	Brightly Beaming Resources (Letter of the Week)	Brightly Beaming Resources (Letter of the Week) (BBR/LOTW) is a Canada-based program. As such, its creator has no plans to align with the CCS, and everything she has written (and will write going forward) has no intentional connection to the initiative. Additionally, most of the resources pertain to toddlers and preschoolers and/or are largely based on literature and music that have no official connection to the CCS. With school-age materials, BBR/LOTW does suggest a few resources from some entities that have correlated with or aligned to the CCS since the program was created (Explode the Code, Starfall, etc.), but the suggested literature itself has not changed (that is, correlation only occurs in teacher's guides that BBR/LOTW does not include), and BBR/LOTW offers multiple options (i.e., for phonics instruction) so parents wanting to use the BBR/LOTW program can easily avoid the CCS if desired.
233.	Bright Ring Publishing
234.	Brilliance Audio
235.	Brimwood Press
236.	Brinkman Adventures, The
237.	Brio (Focus on the Family)
238.	Brite Music
239.	Brookdale House
240.	Building the Truth
241.	Bunkhouse Sewing
242.	Burnnie.org
243.	Burt Books

244.	Busy Bibles
245.	Butternut Magazine
246.	Byki (Transparent Language)	Byki may choose at some point to align with or correlate to the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so.
247.	Byline (Clear Water Press)	Byline is a Clear Water Press product; as such, it is independent of the CCS.
248.	By the Way Series

	RESOURCE	NOTES
249.	Cadron Creek Prairie Primer
250.	CalcuLadder (School Made Simple)
251.	Calculus Professor, The
252.	Calculus without Tears (Berkeley Books)
253.	Calvary Curriculum
254.	Calvary Press
255.	Calvinist Cadet Corps, The
256.	Cambridge Academy, The	Some Cambridge Academy classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. But non-AP Cambridge Academy material is independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Cambridge Academy will have to make related changes as well.
257.	Camp Fire
258.	Camp Infinity (Answers in Genesis)
259.	C&T Publishing
260.	Candy 4Way Phonics

261.	Canon Press	Some curricular materials offered by Canon Press (through its Logos Press division, which operates under a different website) have ancillary connections to the CCS, but resources sold via the Canon Press website itself are independent of the initiative.
262.	Cantamar Publishing
263.	CapJaxMathFax
264.	Cardamom Publishers
265.	Carden Educational Foundation
266.	CareerDIRECT (Crown Financial Ministries)	CareerDIRECT is a service of Crown Financial Ministries, which is independent of the CCS.
267.	Career Press
268.	Carlin, Dan Hardcore History Common Sense
269.	Carl's Corner Alphabet Avenue Little Book Lane Word Way	Carl's Corner (and its affiliated sites – all of which are in the process of being moved to Carl's Corner) have not been correlated to or aligned with the CCS at this time. However, the site's creator has helped a school to align some of its content to the CCS and, though such plans are not imminent, she may consider aligning the Carl's Corner content in the future.
270.	Carpenter Literacy
271.	Carschooling
272.	Cat & Dog Theology (UnveilinGLORY)
273.	Catholic Heritage	Catholic Heritage utilizes Modern Curriculum Press (MCP) for math in the primary grades. However, it currently uses 2005 editions, which are not CCS-aligned (NOTE: Aligned materials will be copyrighted 2010 or later). Additionally, though, Catholic Heritage also uses materials published by the Catholic Textbook Project, at least some of which have been altered to include supplemental material “supportive” of the CCS. Catholic Textbook Project is listed as correlated for that reason, and users of Catholic Heritage products should be aware of the existence of correlating documents within Catholic Textbook Project materials.
274.	Catholic Icing

275.	Catholic Schoolhouse	The Grammar Memory Work Program of Catholic Schoolhouse is the program's main framework, and it is independent of the CCS. Some pages of the website share aligned resources (i.e., ALEKS, Evan-Moor, Sheppard Software), but “those are just things [its] users have suggested as accompaniments... Any listed texts [beyond the program 'tour guides'] are not required, nor integrated, just ideas brought...by families that use Catholic Schoolhouse to begin the process of choosing if...they desire to use text to accompany the memory work.” Interested parties should be sure to cross-reference any such suggestions against this database's listings.
276.	Cathy & Marcy
277.	Cedar Fort	Cedar Fort “neither promote[s] nor discourage[s] any regard to CCS/NGSS/C3. [It does] not have any...example of a [Cedar Fort author] with a brand or work that is affected by consideration for those issues, and [it is] not able to say what influence or direction [it] would take on their content should [an author] integrate or promote any of those initiatives. ...[But] “as of [Summer 2016], no employee of Cedar Fort has given consideration to the CCS/NGSS/C3 initiative in working with any creator or submission.”
278.	Cedarmont Kids
279.	Celebrate Kids
280.	Cell-fie Science	Cell-fie Science is not aligned with or correlated to the CCS or NGSS and has no plans to do so. However, the videos' creator may eventually consider such connections if/when she has time.
281.	CELLSalive!
282.	CenterForLit
283.	Centre for Innovation in Mathematics Teaching (CIMT)	CIMT “[produces]...mathematics resources to be used world wide but [they] are developed to fit with the National Curriculum in the UK and not directly for the USA.”
284.	Centrifuge Language Arts Curriculum
285.	Chalcedon Foundation
286.	Challenge Math (Hickory Grove Press)

287.	Chapel Library
288.	Character Building for Families
289.	Character Concepts
290.	Character Corner, The
291.	Character First
292.	Character Health
293.	Character Ink Press
294.	Character Trades
295.	Character Writing Worksheets
296.	Charisma House
297.	Charity Christian Academy	For its Online/Video option, Charity Christian Academy uses Alpha-Omega's Ignitia program, which is independent of the CCS. In its Traditional/Textbook program, some optional add-in resources have connections to the CCS, but all required components are independent of the initiative. Charity Christian Academy also offers a few AP courses, which are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. However, it's worth noting that all AP courses must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, Charity Christian Academy may have to make related changes as well.
298.	Cheerful Cursive (Mastery Publications)
299.	Cherrydale Press
300.	ChessKid	"ChessKid [offers]...a complete course that is [correlated to] the Common Core curriculum," as well as a separate " curriculum guide ...with no imposed standards of any kind."
301.	Chesterton Press	Most Chesterton Press books and materials remain independent of the CCS, though (as of November 2015) one study guide has been correlated.
302.	Chicago Review Press Children's

303.	Child 1st Publications
304.	Childbloom Guitar Program, The
305.	Children in Action (WMU)
306.	Children Learning Reading
307.	Chosen People Ministries
308.	Christ-Centered Curriculum
309.	Christian Academy of America	Christian Academy of America uses Alpha-Omega's Ignitia materials for its Online/Video program and Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) for its Traditional/Textbook program. Both entities are independent of CCS.
310.	ChristianAnswers.net
311.	Christian Concepts for Kids
312.	Christian Cottage	Materials written by Christian Cottage are independent of the CCS. Currently, its full curriculum uses some materials from companies that are correlated with the CCS (i.e., BJU) and others, such as Modern Curriculum Press, Evan-Moor, and EPS, that offer many explicitly aligned products. However, Christian Cottage only uses materials with a pre-CCS copyright, and is in the process of replacing all materials from now-aligned companies with independent resources. Additionally, it consults with families to create a custom curriculum program for each student, so parents desiring to refrain from using CCS-related materials can discuss that with the consultants.
313.	Christian Focus Publications
314.	Christian HomeSchool Hub	Though most resources written by the Christian HomeSchool Hub itself and many of its sponsors remain independent of the CCS, other sponsors have CCS connections – i.e., Evan-Moor is aligned to the CCS; Educents actively endorses the CCS – and the position of some sponsors relative to the CCS (i.e., Fortuigence) is unknown. Additionally, some products created by the owner of the Christian HomeSchool Hub are advertised – via her Creations by LAckert store on Teachers Pay Teachers – as being correlated to the CCS.
315.	Christian Homeschool Publishing	Christian Homeschool Publishing sells the same

	(Creations by LAckert)	products via the name Creations by LAckert on Teachers Pay Teachers, where it details correlations to the CCS for some of its resources.
316.	Christian Keyboarding
317.	Christian Kids Explore Science (Bright Ideas Press)
318.	Christian Liberty Press (CLP)	Materials written directly by Christian Liberty Press (CLP) are completely independent of the CCS. CLP's full curriculum packages – known as CLASS – do use some materials from companies, including BJU, that are correlated with the CCS and others, such as Modern Curriculum Press, that offer many explicitly aligned products. However, almost all of those products have a copyright prior to 2010 when the CCS was adopted and the one text from a company with many aligned books that has a later copyright (a Glencoe woodworking book published in 2011) is not aligned. If CLP eventually updates any books from aligned companies to post-2010 editions, it's possible they may be aligned, but at this point they are not.
319.	Christian Light Education (CLE)
320.	Christian Novel Studies
321.	Christians, The (SEARCH)
322.	Christian Service Brigade
323.	Christmas Angel, The
324.	Christopherus Curriculum
325.	Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Magazines
326.	CiRCE Institute
327.	Circle C Adventures
328.	Circuit Scribe (Electroninks)
329.	Civil Air Patrol	Civil Air Patrol is currently aligned to pre-CCS/NGSS standards. “[CAP has] plans to update the material in future editions, but [it has] no firm timeline [as of Fall 2016].”
330.	Civitas Government Game (Bright Ideas Press)

331.	ClarkNess.com	Most of the materials on ClarkNess.com are independent of the CCS. The math ebooks are correlated to the initiative.
332.	Classes by Beth	Some Classes by Beth courses are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. But non-AP Class by Beth courses are independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Classes by Beth will have to make related changes as well.
333.	Classical Astronomy (Fourth Day Press)
334.	Classical Conversations	Materials written by Classical Conversations and used in the program are not aligned, and it will continue to recommend only non-CCS editions of Saxon Math. The program does suggest a math resource from Scholastic, which is aligned, but it is an optional tutor resource, not required in the actual curriculum. It also includes one book from Instructional Fair, but that resource was published in 1999. However, in 2015 Classical Conversations became a significant corporate sponsor for National Number Knockout (N2K), which advertised that it "helps meet Common Core...standards." Classical Conversations "supports N2K's efforts by hosting [its] online downloads and sales" on the Classical Conversations website .
335.	Classical Copywork
336.	Classical Historian, The
337.	Classical Legacy Press
338.	Classically Catholic Memory
339.	Classical Writing
340.	Classic Curriculum Workbooks (Mott Media Publishing)

341.	Classic Science	The publisher of Classic Science has no intention of aligning his materials to the CCS. That said, if he feels at some point in the future that changes in college entrance exams are such that exposure to the CCS might be necessary for student mastery of the exams, he might publish a supplementary guide to help his advanced students apply the CCS vernacular within the Classic Science curriculum. But he has no immediate plans to do that.
342.	ClassTools.net	Users of ClassTools.net create their own content and can only access the their own content.
343.	Clear Water Press	Clear Water Press sells Cover Story, the One-Year Adventure Novel, and other composition resources, all of which are independent of the CCS.
344.	Clever Dragons	Content produced by Clever Dragons is independent of the CCS. However, the site allows users to post suggested video content, some of which comes from sources aligned with or correlated to the CCS.
345.	Clubhouse and Clubhouse Jr. (Focus on the Family)
346.	Cobblestone Path (Thinking Kid Press)
347.	CodaKid
348.	Code Academy
349.	College Prep Genius	Though College Prep Genius provides preparation for standardized tests such as the SAT and ACT, which purport to be aligned with the CCS, its owner has learned that the tests actually do not contain any CCS content. Rather, they continue – as they have in the past – to simply test critical thinking skills, and so College Prep Genius has been able to remain independent of the CCS.
350.	Colson Center, The
351.	Coma Niddy	Coma Niddy videos are independent of the CCS/NGSS because they were produced prior to the advent of those initiatives and cannot now be altered. And now, though Coma Niddy “[has] looked into the common core,” it “[doesn’t] follow any strict guidelines for common core/NGSS.” Instead, it tries to “find a balance between art, science, education, and entertainment” and is “also looking at what adults are learning, and what topics may be trending, or have sustained interest for future content.”

352.	Common Sense Press Learning Language Arts through Literature Wordsmith	Current Common Sense Press materials are not aligned. The company has not said that it won't align future products - thus, that remains a possibility - but there are no specific plans for that at this time.
353.	Community Bible Study	Compass Cinema is the parent company of Compass Classroom, which is wholly independent of the CCS.
354.	Compass
355.	Compass Classroom (Compass Cinema)
356.	Complete Girl's Guide to Home Skills. The (Erskine Family)
357.	Comprehensive School Mathematics Program (CSMP)
358.	Computer Programming for Homeschool Students and Other Beginners
359.	Concordia Publishing House
360.	Concordia University Art Lessons
361.	Confessions of a Homeschooler	Confessions recommends a particular atlas, the National Geographic United States Atlas for the Road Trip USA , which has a 2012 edition that may be CCS-aligned since National Geographic has chosen to align many of its resources. However, it's not clear whether atlases can be or have been aligned. And it's also possible to use an earlier edition (published before 2010) or a different atlas entirely to complete the Confessions program.
362.	Conservative Children's Books	Nearly every book listed with Conservative Children's Books is independent of the CCS. One title - Striker Jones: Elementary Economics for Elementary Detectives – is correlated.
363.	Constitution Quest Game. The
364.	Constitutional Cursive (Learning Tangent)
365.	Constitutional Law Online (HSLDA)	Constitutional Law Online is offered via HSLDA

		Online Academy. Though some HSLDA Online Academy courses have ancillary connections to the CCS, Constitutional Law Online does not.
366.	Constitution Bee
367.	Constructing the Universe (Michael S. Schneider)
368.	Cooking through Geography (Marci Lynn Wolf)
369.	Coolmath.com
370.	Copycat Books
371.	Core Academy of Science
372.	Cornerstone Curriculum
373.	Cornerstones Academy
374.	Cottage Press
375.	Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE)	Students doing exchanges through CIEE must comply with the requirements of hosting schools, but CIEE itself has no connection to the CCS.
376.	Coursera	Coursera offers college-level material and, as such, is not directly included in the CCS initiative. However, those who create the classes “have complete autonomy to design the courses to their own set of educational standards. As such, it is difficult” to make a blanket statement about everything offered on the site. Coursera itself recommends sending a query to the instructor of any Coursera class one is considering in order to have full disclosure about possible CCS connections.
377.	Covenant Home
378.	Cover Story (Clear Water Press)
379.	Cozy Grammar
380.	Craftsy
381.	Craft Yarn Council	Currently the educational materials offered by the Craft Yarn Council are aligned to NCTE and McREL standards. However, the council “will definitely reevaluate standards for [2017], especially looking at CCS and C3 standards and possibly NGSS, if [its] education consultant feels it is applicable.”
382.	Crazy-Brainz

383.	Create Better Writers (homeschool edition only)	The publisher of Create Better Writers has concerns about the developmental appropriateness of the CCS. As such, it will keep its homeschool edition (Standards Based Grammar) independent of the CCS, and it's worth noting that its use of the phrase "standards based grammar" in relation to the homeschool edition refers to other standards, not the CCS. It's also worth noting that the company is currently working to create explicitly aligned public school materials (to be called Common Core Based Grammar).
384.	Creating a Masterpiece
385.	Creation Club, The
386.	Creation Illustrated
387.	Creation in the 21st Century
388.	Creation Lens	Creation Lens is aligned to pre-CCS Missouri state standards.
389.	Creation Ministries International (Creation Magazine)
390.	Creation Quest
391.	Creations by LAckert (Christian Homeschool Publishing)	Though many of its products do not appear to be connected to the CCS, Creations by LAckert details correlations to the CCS for some of its resources.
392.	Creation Science 4 Kids
393.	Creation Today
394.	Creative Electives
395.	Creative Learning Connection
396.	CreativeLive
397.	Creative Reading for Kids
398.	Crecer Publications (Dena Luchsinger)
399.	Creek Edge Press	As is evident from the Creek Edge book lists , the program suggests some resources from companies that are CCS-aligned. However, the nature of the program is such that no particular books are required; thus, parents can choose for themselves from among the suggestions as well as from any other relevant materials not listed.
400.	Crewton Ramone's House of Math

401.	Cricket Crate (Kiwi Crate)	Cricket Crate is for Ages 0-3. The parent company offers other resources – Koala Crate, Kiwi Crate, Doodle Crate, and Tinker Crate – for other age groups. Each product has a distinctive focus. The company has no current plans to align with the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
402.	Crickweb
403.	Cross Seven
404.	Cross Trail Outfitters
405.	Crossway
406.	CrossWired Science	CrossWired Science may consider aligning to the CCS in the future but has no immediate plans to do so.
407.	CrossWise Publishing
408.	Crown Financial Ministries
409.	CTC Math
410.	Cubelets (Modular Robotics)	Cubelets plans are currently independent of the CCS/NGSS/C3. However, the company is “considering writing new lesson plans to align with one or more of the CCS/NGSS/C3 standards in the future.”
411.	Cune Press
412.	Curiosity Stream	Curiosity Stream “hope[s] to work more closely with schools and various education systems in the future, “ and may take the CCS into consideration if it does so. However, it doesn't “have any set plans [for doing so] at the moment.”
413.	Curious Critters	Curious Critters advertises that it is aligned with the “standards developed by the National Committee on Science Education Standards and Assessment” in 1996 and makes no mention of the CCS/NGSS/C3.
414.	CurrClick Online Classes	As a supplier/distributor of more than 30,000 homeschool-related products, some of what the company sells is aligned to the CCS. And some of the CurrClick Online Classes do reference products with connections to the CCS (i.e., classes about Magic Tree House books). However, the CurrClick Online Classes produced directly by the company are not aligned and will remain independent of the CCS.

415.	Cursive First
416.	Cursive Logic

	RESOURCE	NOTES
417.	D.J. Dillon Adventure Series, The (Mott Media Publishing)
418.	D6 Family
419.	Daily Dose of Greek
420.	Daily Dose of Hebrew
421.	Dale Seymour Publications (Pearson)	Dale Seymour books all appear to have publication dates from the 1980s and 1990s and seem at this point to be largely out of print, available only via the used curriculum market – and books published prior to 2010 will be independent of the CCS. However, Dale Seymour is a Pearson imprint, and Pearson is a proponent of the CCS. Therefore, any Dale Seymour books from 2010 and later – if they exist – will be explicitly aligned.
422.	Dan & Louie
423.	Dance Mat Typing (BBC)	Dance Mat Typing is aligned to UK national standards rather than to the CCS.
424.	DataDragon
425.	Dave Raymond's History (Compass Classroom)
426.	David C. Cook
427.	David R. Godine
428.	Davidson Academy
429.	Davidsons Music
430.	DaVinci Press (Kevin Ahern)
431.	Days of Wonder
432.	Debbie and Friends
433.	Declaration Statesmanship (Key Books)
434.	Deeper Roots
435.	Denim Beret, The	The creator of The Denim Beret incorporates some elements from a resource book called

		Step Up to Writing by Maureen Auman that is currently aligned to the CCS. However, The Denim Beret only uses the 1999 (pre-CCS) edition of the book.
436.	Design-A-Study
437.	Designer Bible Drill
438.	Destiny Image Publishers
439.	Developmental Math
440.	Devil Pups
441.	Diagramming the Scriptures
442.	Diamond Piano Method	Diamond Piano Method is aligned with the North Carolina Essential Standards of Beginning Music K-12.
443.	Diana Waring History
444.	Dianne Craft
445.	Dick & Jane Educational Snacks
446.	Didache Series, The
447.	Dig for Kids, The
448.	Digital Dialects
449.	Digital Frog	Digital Frog is aligned to a number of educational standards frameworks , but not to the CCS/NGSS.
450.	Dinah.com	Dinah.com refers to standards in Texas and other non-CCS states as it develops its products. It may consider showing correlations to the CCS in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
451.	Dino Lingo
452.	Discover4Yourself (Precept Ministries)
453.	Discover Art with Sandra
454.	Discovering Intelligent Design	Though Discovering Intelligent Design is aware of areas in which it correlates to the NGSS, the program is set up to help students refute the evolution-oriented tenets of the NGSS. Thus, any reference to the NGSS is designed to help students remain independent of the initiative.
455.	Discovering the Art of Mathematics	Discovering the Art of Mathematics “materials are designed for 'college' level mathematics, specifically for students in the liberal arts. While they can provide meaningful mathematical investigations for high school level students, there was no intent or effort to align them in any way with any K-12 standards (old or new). This being said, [DAoM appreciates] the Common Core's highlighting Standards of Mathematical 'Practice' which [it feels is] an important ingredient in supporting students in making sense of mathematical ideas at any level (and which were often not very explicit in prior standards). Students engaging with [DAoM] materials will naturally engage in these practices as they make sense of mathematics.”

456.	Discover Praxis
457.	Discover Texas
458.	Discovery Girls Magazine
459.	Discovery House Publishers
460.	Discovery of Design
461.	DIVE	Some DIVE classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. Though not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses, it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, DIVE's AP prep classes may have to make related changes as well. But non-AP DIVE material is independent of the initiative.
462.	DIY.org
463.	DLTK-Kids (and affiliated sites)
464.	do2learn
465.	Doctor Aviation
466.	Dog-Eared Publications	Dog-Eared Publications has no immediate plans to align or correlate its books to the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
467.	Do Life Right
468.	Dollar Homeschool
469.	Dolly Parton's Imagination Library	Dolly Parton's Imagination Library partners with

		Penguin, which does not change book content for the CCS but does correlate them to the CCS by writing supplementary correlated “teaching resources” for each title. Thus, children's literature sent from Dolly Parton's Imagination Library will not contain CCS content, but Penguin does support and promote the CCS initiative.
470.	DonnaYoung.org
471.	DonPotter.net	DonPotter.net's extensive lists of resource links may include a few links to CCS-connected resources. However, most of the site's recommendations refer to older (i.e., 19 th /early 20 th century) public domain resources which are not CCS by definition.
472.	Doodle Crate (Kiwi Crate)	Doodle Crate is for Ages 9-16. The parent company offers other resources – Koala Crate, Kiwi Crate, and Tinker Crate – for other age groups. Each product has a distinctive focus. The company has no current plans to align with the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
473.	Doodles Ave
474.	Doorposts
475.	Dora & Diego Homeschool Spanish
476.	Dr. Aardsma's Drills
477.	Dr. Aardsma's Saxon Math Checker	Dr. Aardsma's Saxon Math Checker uses the Saxon homeschool books, which are not aligned with the CCS.
478.	Dragon Mountain Treasures
479.	Draw3D
480.	Draw and Write through History
481.	Drawing on History (KnoodleU)	The creators of Drawing on History recommend one particular DK title as a resource. Though some DK titles are CCS-aligned, we do not know about the particular book that Drawing on History suggests. However, the book is a 2008 copyright, which pre-dates the CCS, and it is not imperative for successful completion of the Drawing on History program.
482.	Drawn Into the Heart of Reading (Heart of Dakota)	Though some of Heart of Dakota's unit studies incorporate resources correlated to the CCS,

		Drawn Into the Heart of Reading (DTHOR) is independent of the initiative. And, though the Book Projects to Send Home resources Heart of Dakota suggests to supplement DITHOR are published by a company – Carson-Dellosa - that is aligning current products to the CCS, their copyrights predate the CCS and are also not required to implement DITHOR.
483.	Dreaming Spires Home Learning
484.	Drew's Art Box
485.	Driver Ed in a Box
486.	Driver Ed to Go
487.	DriversEd.com
488.	Drive Thru History
489.	DSO Kids	DSO Kids lesson plans are correlated to the TEKS standards .
490.	Dual Credit at Home
491.	DUO Education
492.	DyslexiaGames.com

	RESOURCE	NOTES
493.	Eagle's Wings
494.	Early Lingo
495.	EarnSum
496.	Earth Rangers	Neither the materials written by Earth Rangers itself nor its resources provided by Green Teacher are connected to the CCS. The program does utilize JUMP Math as well, but only the Canadian version, which is correlated with but not changed to actually align to the CCS.
497.	Earth's Birthday Project
498.	Earthschooling	Earthschooling does not actively advertise connections to the CCS. However, it will – by request – create documents showing its correlation to the CCS.
499.	Earthside Education
500.	Easie Peasie (Special Kids)	Note that Easie Peasie (Special Kids) is different than Easy Peasy All in One Homeschool (and Easy Peasy All in One High School). The latter are listed separately.

501.	Easy Grammar	The author of Easy Grammar does not currently show correlations to CCS, though she has done so in the past and may choose at some point in the future to do so again.
502.	Easy Hebrew
503.	Easy Homeschooling (Erskine Family)
504.	EasyMathSkills
505.	Easyread
506.	Eating Game, The
507.	Economics for Everybody (Compass Classroom)
508.	Economics in a Box
509.	EdEmberley.com
510.	Edgeucational Publishing
511.	Edublox
512.	Educating for Success
513.	Educational Games for Fun and Learning (Paul Mungor)
514.	Education Unboxed
515.	Education World	Education World has a wide range of materials from which users may pick and choose. Though the site will not alter any current content to align with the CCS, it may produce aligned content in the future.
516.	Educators Press
517.	EduCLIME
518.	EDUDPS
519.	edX	The edX Algebra and Geometry courses – and possibly some others – are aligned to the CCS. But in general edX courses are primarily designed for adult learners and, thus, are not directly connected to the CCS. That said, because edX simply curates courses from dozens of disparate providers, we highly recommend that those considering an edX course contact the particular course provider to ascertain its definitive stance on the CCS.
520.	eDynamic Learning

521.	EEME	EEME may consider correlating or aligning to the CCS in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
522.	EFSAP	EFSAP has no immediate plans to correlate to the CCS or to alter any of its materials for the CCS, but it may possibly consider doing so in the future.
523.	Egglo
524.	eIMACS (IMACS)	eIMACS will not change its content. It may consider showing correlations, but has no immediate plans to do so. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by eIMACS may have to make related changes as well.
525.	EKS Publishing Company
526.	eLearnerU	elearnerU believes "there is a lot of good stuff in the [National Coalition of Arts Standards]," which are aligned with the CCS. But its courses and materials are not specifically aligned with or correlated to those standards.
527.	Elemental History (Elemental Science)
528.	Elemental Science	Materials written directly by Elemental Science are independent of the CCS. However, at the high school/rhetoric stage, the program utilizes an e-textbook from CK-12, which is explicitly aligned with the CCS.
529.	Elements of Mathematics (IMACS)	Elements of Mathematics will not change its content. It may consider showing correlations, but has no immediate plans to do so.
530.	elements.wlonk.com (Keith's Think Zone)
531.	Elf Fun
532.	Ellemenopotomus & Co.

533.	Ellen McHenry's Basement Workshop
534.	Elocution Solution
535.	Empowered Online Academy
536.	Enchanted Homeschooling Mom
537.	Enchanted Learning
538.	Engaging Language Kits (AVKO Foundation)
539.	English from the Roots Up (Literacy Unlimited/Cune Press)
540.	Englishlinx.com	The creator of Englishlinx.com is in favor of the CCS, but has both worksheets independent of and worksheets aligned to the initiative. The two entities are mutually exclusive and are clearly labeled on the site.
541.	English on a Roll
542.	Enki Education
543.	Enlightium Christian Academy	In addition to a full PK-12th grade program - provided through Alpha-Omega's Ignitia product - which is mostly independent of the CCS (other than a few CCS-aligned secondary math classes that can be avoided by using the non-CCS options provided), Enlightenment offers several AP preparation courses. Though not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses, it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Enlightenment will have to make related changes as well.
544.	Enrichment Studies (formerly Classical Composers Monthly)	Enrichment Studies has "not changed or done anything in regards to CCS [and it] has no plans to do so." Its service gleans from free resources it finds online, so it does use many other resources, but it does not have a set list of vendors. It is possible that some of the linked sites are CCS-aligned, but I currently have no evidence of such alignment.
545.	Epic!	Epic! is a children's literature resource, not the Oklahoma-based public charter (non-homeschool) school of the same name.

546.	Epic History HQ
547.	Epiphany Games	Epiphany Games follows the Australian syllabus, not the CCS.
548.	Equipping Minds	Equipping Minds discusses the CCS on one of its Educator pages but only to contrast it with the “Cognitive Core” that Equipping Minds promotes.
549.	Erin Go Bragh Publishing (Hamilton Troll Books)
550.	Erskine Family
551.	Escondido Tutorial Services
552.	Essay Tracks
553.	Essentials in Writing
554.	Essential Skills Advantage	Essential Skills Advantage makes program changes as a result of parent and student feedback. So it's possible that eventual CCS-related changes could be made, but the company has no plans for that at this time.
555.	Estes Educator	Estes Educator may choose at some point in the future to make connections to the CCS, but it has no immediate plans to do so.
556.	eTeacher Group
557.	Etiquette Factory. The
558.	Etiquette Lessons Foundation
559.	Euclid's Elements
560.	Evangel Publishing House
561.	Eva Varga
562.	Everyday Speech
563.	everything.com (FW Media)	The content of most everything.com books will not be adjusted for the CCS. However, in 2015 the company has published five books for parents about CCS content: The Everything Parent's Guide to Common Core Math: Grades K-5 , The Everything Parent's Guide to Common Core Math: Grades 6-8 , The Everything Parent's Guide to Common Core ELA: Grades K-5 , The Everything Parent's Guide to Common Core ELA: Grades 6-8 , and The Everything Parent's Guide to Common Core Science: Grades 6-8 .
564.	Everything Homeschooling	The creator of Everything Homeschooling has indicated that she's made no CCS-related changes to her lesson plans and unit studies. However, I am not sure what books from outside vendors (if any) are used within the lessons; I am currently checking into that in order to ascertain if any such books are from aligned publishers.

565.	Excelerate Spanish
566.	Excellence in Literature
567.	Exceller
568.	Experience Astronomy
569.	Exploration Education
570.	Exploration Films
571.	Explorations Academy Online (EAO)
572.	Explorer Magazine (Compassion International)
573.	Explorer's Bible Study
574.	Express Readers
575.	Eyewitness to History
576.	EZSchool
577.	EZ Stitch Sampler

	RESOURCE	NOTES
578.	F.L.A.G.S. (FUNDamental Language Arts Games Supplement) (Mastery Publications)
579.	Faith Academy Online	Faith Academy Online offers two versions of each of its courses, one that is aligned with the CCS and another that is independent of it.
580.	Faith Alive
581.	Faithful Workouts
582.	Family Bible Films
583.	Family Life Today
584.	Family Mint
585.	Family Music Curriculum (and other products by Marcia Washburn)
586.	Family Time Fitness

587.	Far Above Rubies (Lynda Coats)	Far Above Rubies (FAR) suggests an extensive array of resources, some of which are aligned with or correlated to the CCS. No particular resources are required, though, so one may avoid CCS-related material if desired. Users should cross-reference all FAR suggestions against the lists on this database.
588.	Faraday Schools	“A lot of the resources on [offered by Faraday Schools]...support...anyone teaching about 'science and religion,' [with] no specific curriculum reference... More specifically – where there are links to the curriculum – [they are] not linked to the US curriculum; [instead they are] linked to the UK curriculum, so there are no references to the US curriculum...”
589.	FASTly	FASTly “materials were developed with and by teachers and are intended to be consistent with applicable standards, but since they will be used in various combinations by various teachers in various places, detailed alignment with standards will remain in the hands of teachers.”
590.	Father's Books, The
591.	FEE (The Foundation for Economic Education)
592.	Fifties Chix
593.	Figures in Motion
594.	Filmmaking from the First Directors (Compass Classroom)
595.	FinanceFreak.com (Coolmath.com)
596.	Firmly Planted (Real Life Press)
597.	First Friday Friends
598.	First Language Lessons (Peace Hill Press)
599.	First Reader/Turbo Reader
600.	Fit2B Studio
601.	Fitivities	Fitivities itself is independent of the CCS. However, the other resources produced by Fitivities' parent company, Skillastics, are aligned.
602.	Five in a Row

603.	Flags-to-print.com	The Flags-to-print website does not provide a means for identifying or contacting its owners. However, careful examination of the site shows that it contains only full-color and blackline master versions of various flags from around the world, along with brief, factual descriptions about each flag. It makes no mention of standards of any sort.
604.	Flashmaster
605.	Flip2BFit
606.	Flip n Flop Learning
607.	Flippers, The
608.	Fluencia
609.	Fluency Trilogy, The (URtheMOM)
610.	Fluenz
611.	Flying Frog Publishing
612.	Focus (Hackett)
613.	Focus Publishing
614.	Food Renegade
615.	FoodStuff Science
616.	Foreign Languages for Kids by Kids
617.	Forensics Illustrated
618.	Forever His Princess
619.	Forgotten Books
620.	FORMED
621.	For Such a Time as This	Some For Such a Time as This classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS (as noted on the lists of material with Ancillary Connections and Standardized Tests). But non-AP For Such a Time as This material is independent of the initiative.
622.	Fortunately for You Books
623.	Foundation for American Christian Education (The Noah Plan)	Because FACE recommends both the first and second editions of Right Start Math and does not readily distinguish between the two, users will want to be aware of which edition they choose. The First Edition of Right Start is independent of the CCS, while the Second Edition is aligned.

624.	Foundation for Thought and Ethics (FTE)
625.	Foundations Press
626.	Founders Academy
627.	Fourth Day Press (Classical Astronomy)
628.	Frates, Catie
629.	FreedomProject Academy(FPE)	FPE has purposed to avoid CCS-aligned materials. Any of its resources published by companies that have now aligned were purposely chosen to pre-date the CCS (i.e., copyright dates prior to 2010).
630.	FreedomProject Media
631.	Free Games for Free
632.	Free Homeschool Lessons	The creator of Free Homeschool Lessons is committed to insuring that the site is free of CCS-related content. She has endeavored to remove any links to CCS content and will continue to do so if she discovers that any links on the site add CCS content.
633.	Free Kids Books	The books presented on Free Kids Books are written by many individual authors, but the site publisher is not aware that any have been written with the CCS in mind and the site itself will not alter any book to align.
634.	Free Math	Though the content on the Free Math site is not aligned, the site carries prominent advertisements for IXL, which is CCS-aligned, and other math-related websites as well. Free Math users should be aware that the ads are not part of the content of Free Math itself and should be careful to click only on Free Math links when seeking the site's actual content.
635.	Free Reading Program, The
636.	FreeRice	FreeRice doesn't take a position on the CCS. The site is operated by the World Food Programme, a United Nations agency.
637.	Free Think U
638.	French Essentials
639.	Friendly Anatomy
640.	Friendly Chemistry

641.	Friends and Heroes
642.	Frontier Christian Academy
643.	Frontier Girls
644.	Fuel Up to Play 60	Fuel Up to Play 60 supports various health and wellness standards unrelated to the CCS.
645.	Full Blast Productions
646.	Full Gospel Family Publications
647.	Fun4theBrain	Fun4theBrain is independent of the CCS, though its sister site, Multiplication.com is explicitly aligned.
648.	Fun and Function
649.	FunCation Academy	FunCation Academy aims to be independent of the CCS, and has tried to choose resources and diagnostic assessments independent of the initiative; instead, it purposes to use material aligned to the pre-CCS Florida state standards and to No Child Left Behind. However, co-op teachers are independent contractors who choose their own materials, so interested parties should communicate with individual teachers to confirm which materials are being used at any given time.
650.	Fun English Games
651.	Fun for Kidz Magazines
652.	Funhill Games
653.	Funke, Teresa
654.	Funnix	Though the creator of Funnix also writes for McGraw-Hill/SRA, which is aligned, Funnix itself is not and will not become aligned with the CCS.
655.	FunPup.com
656.	Fun-Schooling (Thinking Tree)	Fun-Schooling is the same as Thinking Tree, which is a subsidiary of Dyslexia Games. Dyslexia Games is independent of the CCS.
657.	Funtastic Unit Studies!	Author and Funtastic Unit Studies! owner Susan Kilbride will not change her books' content to align with the CCS. Someday she may show correlations, but she has no immediate plans to do so.
658.	FutureLearn	“FutureLearn is a company in the UK [that] works with worldwide university partners to produce free online courses. [It doesn't] currently have any partner universities within the United States, so [it hasn't] really had much exposure to the CCS agenda. As a company, FutureLearn does not produce materials so it would be up to [its] partners to make any changes they saw as necessary.”

659.	FuturePlans

	RESOURCE	NOTES
660.	Gail's Music4Kids
661.	Galore Park Educational Publishers	Galore Park is designed to meet educational standards in the United Kingdom (UK).
662.	GameED Academy (formerly Minecraft Homeschool)
663.	Gamequarium	Gamequarium does not produce its own content. Rather, it serves to aggregate links to a wide variety of other educational websites, the CCS status of each must be individually determined.
664.	Garden of Praise
665.	Garlic Press	The Garlic Press Explore the Core Math Series and Summer Activities for Fall Readiness books are explicitly aligned to the CCS , and some titles in its Discovering Literature Series: Challenging Level are correlated . Other current Garlic Press products are independent of the CCS, but the company has said it will likely correlate or align future products.
666.	Gateway to the Classics (Yesterday's Classics)
667.	Gazette665
668.	GCFLearnFree.org
669.	Gemiini	Gemiini is “planning to let others use [its] platform to offer content in the future.” As it moves toward that, it will be necessary to check the CCS position of any vendors that Gemiini incorporates.
670.	GEMS Girls' Clubs
671.	GEMS: Great Explorations in Math and Science	GEMS says that “while it is likely that there are alignments from GEMS to the NGSS and/or CCSS, we currently do not have any plans to produce correlation guides or documents for our GEMS Classic Guides, nor do we plan to revise the series. However, our team has produced a number of newer programs that are [matched] to NGSS and we do have correlation documents available for those programs.”.

672.	Generation Joshua (HSLDA)
673.	Generations of Grace
674.	Generations of Virtue
675.	Genesis Curriculum	The author of Genesis Curriculum is also the author of Easy Peasy All in One Homeschool and Easy Peasy All in One High School, which do have ancillary connections to the CCS. However, Genesis Curriculum was created separately and is independent of the CCS.
676.	Genesis Science Network
677.	Geoblox	The Geoblox publisher has a series of books correlated to the TEKS test in Texas but nothing for the CCS.
678.	GeoDeo Educational Resources
679.	Geography Bee Prep Series (Global Press)	The Geography Bee Prep Series was written to help students prepare for the National Geographic Bee. If the Bee itself chooses to align with the CCS, the series may adjust accordingly, but the current materials are not aligned or correlated.
680.	GeoGuesser
681.	Get Algebra Done
682.	Getting Started with French
683.	Getting Started with Spanish
684.	Getty-Dubay Productions
685.	Gifted Homeschoolers Forum Online Classes (GHF)
686.	Gigil Tots	At the moment Gigil Tots has “no plans to align [its] content with the CCS of the other frameworks... That’s not to say [it] won’t in the future, but this channel is still in development.”
687.	Girls of American History
688.	Glimpse of His Splendor
689.	Global Student Network	Global Student Network has at least two lines of unaligned materials (GlobalWare and Ignitia) and at least three lines of aligned materials (Compass Learning , Gradpoint , and OdysseyWare). The company said, "We believe that one of the reasons families homeschool is to be able to decide for themselves what is the best educational path for their children. For this reason, we [have] many options available to assist all homeschool families on their educational journey." It also operates essentially the same programming under another name: International Virtual Learning Academy .

690.	Glory of Kings Science (Silver Lining Press)
691.	God's Little Explorers
692.	Godstruck Ministries 4 Kids
693.	God's World News
694.	Go Fish Resources
695.	Golden Educational Center
696.	Golden Prairie Press (Amy Puetz)
697.	Good and the Beautiful, The (Jenny Phillips)
698.	Good Life Careers
699.	Googol Power Math
700.	Gordon School of Art
701.	Gospel According to Creation
702.	Gospel Light
703.	Grade Spelling (Big IQ Kids)	Grade Spelling word lists come from Big IQ Kids, which is independent of the CCS.
704.	GrammarActive (Forever Learning)	GrammarActive was written to align with pre-CCS state standards and will maintain its correlations to those standards rather than changing to CCS alignment or correlation.
705.	Grammar Galaxy
706.	Grammar Key, The
707.	Grammar Monster
708.	Grammar of Poetry, The (Romans Road Media)
709.	Grammar Revolution

710.	Grandview Publishing
711.	Grapevine Studies
712.	Gravitas Publications
713.	Great Bible Race, The (Epic4D)
714.	Great Books Academy (Angelicum Curriculum)	Great Books Academy uses some pre-CCS versions of resources that are now aligned. It has purchased as many older books as possible and is committed to not using any CCS-related resources. If it becomes impossible to find pre-CCS editions of what it currently uses, it will replace those books with non-CCS ones.
715.	Great Commission Publications
716.	Great Courses, The	Most Great Courses material is independent of the common core, but Great Courses partners with National Geographic – which is explicitly aligned to the CCS - in the production of several courses.
717.	Greathall Productions
718.	Great Source Education Group, Inc.	Great Source Education Group, Inc. “operates as a subsidiary of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company” (HMH), and a link to its site (www.greatsource.com) redirects to HMH. Thus, Great Source Education Group's status in regards to CCS/NGSS/C3 is obviously the same as that of HMH.
719.	Great Waters Press
720.	Greek for Everyone
721.	Greek 'n' Stuff
722.	Green Kid Crafts
723.	Greenleaf Press	Though the publisher of Greenleaf Press did not respond to multiple queries, his published comments about the CCS indirectly indicate that his materials are not aligned.
724.	Green Teacher
725.	Group Publishing	Group will not be aligning its materials to the CCS, but it does support the initiative .
726.	Growing Book by Book	Growing Book by Book “share[s] best literacy practices that are developmentally appropriate based on research and [the author's] own personal educational experience. [She does] not focus on or endorse the CCS” there. However, she does “[note] items that [correlate] with a component of CCS on [her] Teachers Pay Teachers [page] .”

727.	Growing Hands-On Kids	Growing Hands-On Kids does suggest Handwriting without Tears , which is correlated to the CCS, but it also “include[s] other [non]-CCS] alternatives that are hand-made and DIY” as recommended options..
728.	Growing Smart Kids
729.	Growing Through God's Word (Janis Cox)
730.	Growing with Grammar (Jac Kris Publishing)
731.	Growly Books. The
732.	Guidance Systems (Cerebellum Corporation)
733.	Guilt-Free Homeschooling
734.	GUM Drops Grammar
735.	Gus the Pilot Dog (Paws Up! Publishing)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
736.	Hal Leonard	Hal Leonard materials are currently aligned to pre-CCS music standards , but the company is considering whether or not to align to new CCS standards for the arts .
737.	H & H Publishing
738.	Hamilton Troll Books
739.	Hands of a Child
740.	Hands-On English (Portico Books)
741.	Hands On Essays
742.	Hands on Homeschooling
743.	Handspeak
744.	Handwriting for Kids
745.	Handwriting Repair
746.	handwritingworksheets.com
747.	Happy Handwriting (Mastery Publications)

748.	Happy Phonics (Love to Learn)
749.	Hardcore History (Dan Carlin)
750.	Harding, Matthew Christian (Zoe & Sozo Publishing)
751.	HarperCollins Children's	HarperCollins Children's employs “freelance educators from across the country to create [its] teaching guides, author studies, and other activities to help teachers and parents use [its] trade books with children. [The] freelancers have recently been adding Common Core strands to the questions and activities included in the materials.” Thus, the literature itself has not been altered even though teaching resources that accompany the books are aligned.
752.	Harp Lessons with Darlene
753.	Harvest House Publishers
754.	Harvest Ministry
755.	Harvest Time Partners
756.	Harvey Center, The
757.	Harvey's Grammar (Mott Media Publishing)
758.	Hasseler Publishing	The author of the Hasseler Publishing materials also has a site (Paula's Archives) on which she recommends potentially aligned resources for general homeschool use. But the materials she writes, publishes, and sells via Hasseler are not aligned and are not dependent on the resources listed on the archive.
759.	Have Fun with History
760.	Hayes (Flipside)	In addition to serving as a supplier/distributor, Hayes (Flipside) has also created its own product lines, which are listed separately in the Subject Area Project.
761.	Head First Labs
762.	Head for Home (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt)	Though a majority of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt product lines are aligned with the CCS, its Head for Home resources remain independent of the initiative.
763.	Headventure Land	The publishers of Headventure Land reports that the “CCS does get mentioned in Writing and Rhetoric but simply as a reference - not in any way to support or use it to advertise.”

764.	Headstrong Learning Center	Among other resources, Headstrong Learning Center uses materials from PhonoGraphix, which has correlated – not aligned (changed for) – its resources to the CCS.
765.	Heart of Dakota	Plans written by Heart of Dakota (HOD) are independent of the CCS, and HOD does not include any resources that contain content written for the CCS. However, HOD does recommend Singapore Math, which no longer has any versions that remain wholly independent of the CCS. HOD does use Singapore's correlated versions rather than the explicitly aligned ones, and in its guides for Ages 8-10, 9-11, 10-12, 11-13, and 12-14, it does suggest that alternative math programs may be used. But for Ages 5-7, 6-8, and 7-9, Singapore lessons from correlated versions are exclusively built into HOD's regular lesson plans; thus, while using those guides as written does not expose a child to explicitly aligned CCS math content, it does incorporate the use of resources from a company that endorses the CCS. The HOD guides for high school again provide non-CCS math suggestions. But another connection to the CCS is the use of one Usborne book; however, it's included in an optional book packet so it's not actually required to complete the course. Also of note: the first high school package uses a BJU literature book and other packages incorporate Dave Ramsey's Foundations in Personal Finance and Purposeful Design's health book, all of which are correlated to the CCS. Correlated materials are not “explicitly aligned” so they do not contain CCS content, but companies that have chosen to correlate do support the CCS.
766.	Heart of Wisdom
767.	Hebrew4Christians
768.	Heirloom Audio Productions
769.	HelloKids.com	HelloKids has not purposed to align or correlate any activities with the CCS. But it has “partnerships and licensing agreements with many brands” and could not give me the complete list of affiliates. Therefore, it's possible that some of the site's partners have CCS-aligned content.

770.	Helping Hand, A State History from a Christian Perspective
771.	Help with Math (MathXpert)
772.	Henle Latin (Loyola Press)
773.	Henle Latin Online (Compass Classroom)
774.	Here to Help Learning
775.	Heritage History
776.	Hero Factor Games
777.	Hewitt Homeschooling
778.	Hexco Academic	Hexco Academic materials were written to help students prepare for the National Spelling Bee; the National Geographic Bee; the History Bee; the South Asian Bee; competitions of the North-South Foundation; and competitions of the University Interscholastic League (UIL), the Private School Interscholastic Association (PSIA), and the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools (TAPPS), all in Texas. If any of those competitions choose to align with the CCS, Hexco materials may adjust accordingly, but the current materials are not aligned or correlated.
779.	Hickory Grove Press
780.	Higher Rock Education
781.	Hillsdale Academy
782.	Hillsdale Academy Reference Guide	The Hillsdale Academy Reference Guide actually lists materials from quite a few companies that have chosen since 2010 to align or correlate with the CCS (i.e., SRA, Delta, Evan-Moor, Zaner Bloser, Prentice Hall, etc.). However, the guide requires specific editions of each resource, all of which pre-date the CCS by several years (i.e., from the 1990s and early 2000s). If one uses the exact editions listed in the guide, there will be no connection to the CCS; however, if one would substitute current editions (i.e., 2010 or later), many resources would be either correlated or aligned to the CCS.

783.	Hillsong Big Curriculum
784.	H.I.Science Learning
785.	Historical Conquest
786.	History2U
787.	History and Geography of the Bible Story
788.	HistoryAnimated	HistoryAnimated has no immediate plans to align or correlate with the CCS, but it may consider doing so in the future.
789.	History at Our House
790.	History Links
791.	History.net (Weider History Group)
792.	History Scribe (The Homeschool Shop)
793.	History Unboxed
794.	Hoffman Academy (Online Piano Lessons)
795.	Hodgepodge
796.	Holey Cards
797.	Holub, Joan
798.	Holy Heroes
799.	Holy Cow Science
800.	Home2Teach
801.	Home Art Studio
802.	Home Education Resources
803.	Homegrown Preschooler, The
804.	Home Grown Programmers
805.	Home Learning Year by Year	Though the CCS did not exist when Home Learning Year by Year was first published, and the book's most recent edition came out in 2000, some of the providers mentioned in the book may have since chosen to align. Thus, readers seeking non-aligned resources should check out the CCS position of the entities discussed in Home Learning Year by Year.
806.	Home Life Skills (Regina Hogsten)
807.	HomeScholar, The (Lee Binz)	The HomeScholar's publications are independent of the CCS. However, Lee Binz regularly promotes other resources, some of which are aligned with or correlated to the CCS.

808.	HomeSchool Advantage
809.	Homeschool Adventure Company
810.	Homeschool Astronomy
811.	Homeschool Bits
812.	Homeschool Casa
813.	Homeschool Connection, The	The Homeschool Connection provides some tutoring for public and private school students. However, it does not incorporate the CCS into programming for its homeschool students.
814.	Homeschool Connections
815.	Homeschool Court
816.	Homeschool Creations
817.	Homeschool Den
818.	Homeschooled Kids Online
819.	Homeschool Freebie of the Day (Erskine Family)
820.	Homeschool Hackers (Crandall Coding)
821.	Homeschool Inspired Spanish
822.	Homeschooling Torah
823.	Homeschool in the Woods
824.	Homeschool Journey
825.	Homeschool Legacy
826.	Homeschoolmath.net (Math Mammoth)	Homeschoolmath.net is a subsidiary of Math Mammoth, which has both independent and explicitly aligned books. Homeschoolmath.net does not contain any CCS content.
827.	HomeSchool Piano	HomeSchool Piano follows the National Standards of Music Education standards, not the CCS.
828.	Homeschool Programming, Inc.
829.	Homeschool Psych
830.	Homeschool Radio Shows (Erskine Family)
831.	Home School Scholastics

832.	Homeschool Science Press
833.	Homeschool Scientist, The
834.	Homeschool Share
835.	Homeschool Spanish Academy
836.	Homeschool with MineCraft
837.	Homeschool-Your-Boys
838.	Home Spelling Words	Home Spelling Words may choose to advertise that it can be used with the CCS, but it has not decided whether or not to do so at this time.
839.	Homestead Blessings
840.	Honey for a Child's Heart (and Honey for a Teen's Heart)	Honey for a Child's Heart and Honey for a Teen's Heart were both most recently updated in 2002, and Mrs. Hunt passed away in 2010. Though published by Zondervan, which is correlating some of its materials to the CCS, these titles have not been altered since 2002.
841.	Honour of Kings
842.	Horizons (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines, including Horizons.
843.	Horn Book, The	The Horn Book provides lists of recommended children's books and sometimes blogs on education-related topics such as the CCS. But it does not promote the CCS.
844.	Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Avancemos! Bien dit! Head for Home Math in Focus	Houghton Mifflin Harcourt (HMH) advocates for the CCS and advertises its alignment with the standards. Only a few HMH products - the 2009 version of Math in Focus , Avancemos! , Bien dit! , and Head for Home – are independent of the CCS. Other than that, HMH representatives have explained that the rest of its materials (or those of its subsidiaries) published/produced in 2010 or later are aligned. Note that, though Saxon products are distributed by HMH, we list them separately for clarity's sake.
845.	How Great Thou Art (Barry Stebbing)
846.	How Many Syllables

847.	How to Memorize the Periodic Table	How to Memorize the Periodic Table is based in Australia and, thus, has no connection to the CCS/NGSS. And “unless [it begins] to receive queries from [its] customer base that this is important to them, [it] probably won't try to give the appearance of a correlation for the sake of marketing.”
848.	HS Highlights
849.	H.S.I. (Historical Scene Investiatiion)	H.S.I. doesn't “have any immediate plans to make any...changes or connections [in regards to CCS/NGSS/C3]. [It is] searching for funding to support a thorough review and updating of the site,” perhaps to include CCS/NGSS/C3, but [as of Spring 2017, it is] in a bit of a holding pattern.
850.	HSLDA Online Academy	Some regular classes offered by HSLDA Online Academy (formerly known as Patrick Henry Preperatory Academy) do not include any aligned books, but others utilize both correlated (i.e., Barron's, BJU, Usborne) and explicitly aligned (i.e., IXL, Longman) resources. Additionally, the academy offers a number of AP courses, and while those are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses, it's worth noting that all AP courses must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, HSLDA Online Academy AP classes will have to make related changes as well.
851.	HTML 101 for Kids
852.	HTMLcurriculum.com (IE Class)
853.	Hubbard's Cupboard (Joyful Heart Learning)
854.	Hyperion (Hachette)	Most Hyperion (Hachette) titles have no connection to the CCS. However, one title - “the newly re-issued paperback version of The Words We Live By: Your Annotated Guide to the Constitution by Linda R. Monk” - is being marketed as a CCS exemplar text.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
855.	I Can Play Violin!

	RESOURCE	NOTES
856.	I Can Teach My Child	The creator of the I Can Teach My Child resources has not yet studied the CCS. Thus, she has not changed her materials to align and does not have any immediate plans to do so.
857.	Ideals Books	Ideals Books is not correlated or aligned at this time, but the company is still evaluating the CCS so its status may eventually change.
858.	I Drive Safely
859.	IE Languages
860.	Ignatius Press
861.	Ignitia (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines. In the spring of 2013, a few CCS-aligned courses were created for Ignitia, but a parent would have to contact AOP specifically asking for those courses in order to get them. The default Ignitia courses used by any vendor are non-CCS, and the few courses that were developed with the CCS in mind will probably be phased out in the next few months. Though Alpha-Omega offers some Ignitia courses it labels as “for use with AP courses,” it also points out that AP/the College Board “was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse, [those products].” Thus, Alpha-Omega's “AP courses” remain independent of the CCS even though the College Board is “reconciling” AP to the CCS because they are not officially recognized by – or, thus, subject to the requirements of – the College Board.
862.	Igniting Your Writing! (Merritt Park Press)
863.	Iguana Art Academy
864.	iknowthat.com	iknowthat.com was developed using pre-CCS standards and remains aligned with them, not the CCS.
865.	ILS Market
866.	Illuminations (Bright Ideas Press)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
867.	Illustra Media
868.	Improve Your Math Fluency	Current Improve Your Math Fluency materials are independent of the CCS, but it “may come out with new materials specifically designed with CCS/NGSS/C3 in mind, if there appears to be a significant demand for this.”
869.	Inheritance Publications
870.	InnovatorsTribe.com
871.	InquisiKids (Avyx, Inc.)
872.	Insight Technical Education
873.	Inspiration of Painting
874.	Inspire My Artist
875.	Insta-Learn
876.	Institute for Cultural Communicators, The
877.	Institute for Excellence in Writing (IEW)	IEW's creator has testified against the CCS , and IEW products designed for homeschoolers remain independent of the CCS. IEW's public school resources – teacher lesson plans and student instructional materials – have been correlated, but those resources are completely different than the homeschool-oriented DVDs and student materials (such that they would not even be useful for homeschool parents). The one resource available to both audiences – Teaching Writing: Structure & Style (TWSS) – remains independent (i.e., it has not been correlated to the CCS).
878.	Institute for Faith, Work & Economics (IFWE)	The Institute for Faith, Work & Economics may consider aligning or correlating with CCS/NGSS/C3 in the future but has no no plans to do so at the current time.
879.	Institute for Mathematics and Computer Science, The (IMAC) eIMACS Elements of Mathematics	IMACS will not change its content. It may consider showing correlations, but has no immediate plans to do so. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by IMACS may have to make related changes as well.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
880.	Institute of Biblical Greek, The
881.	Institute of Reading Development Literature Programs
882.	Institute on the Constitution (The American View)
883.	Instructional Resources Company (Susan C. Anthony)
884.	Integritas Academy	Integritas Academy believes the CCS is a “probably well meaning” “mixed bag.” But its “bottom line” is that it is “making NO attempt to match Common Core standards. If [it] intersect[s] [with the CCS], great. If not, that’s fine, also.”
885.	Intellego Unit Studies
886.	Interactive Metronome (IM-Home)
887.	Intercollegiate Studies Institute
888.	International Children's Digital Library
889.	International Christian Association of Neurodevelopmentalists (ICAN)
890.	International Virtual Learning Academy	International Virtual Learning Academy is operated by the same company that owns Global Student Network (GSN) and offers programming that is essentially identical to that which is offered by GSN, some of which is aligned to the CCS/NGSS/C3 and some of which is not. See the note for Global Student Network for more information.
891.	Internet Martial Arts
892.	In the Constitution
893.	Itchy's Alphabet
894.	Ivy Kids

	RESOURCE	NOTES
895.	Jackdaw Publications

896.	Jackpine Point Adventures (Merritt Park Press)
897.	Jacob's Math (Bedford, Freeman & Worth Publishers)	The publisher of Jacob's Math (Bedford, Freeman & Worth Publishers) has clearly stated that those materials will not change even though the company does publish other materials (not typically used by homeschoolers) that are CCS-aligned.
898.	Jax Games
899.	Jelly Bean Jar Publications (Angela O'Dell)	"None of [the Jelly Bean Jar] books are or have ever been published by a Common Core aligned publishing company. The name 'Glencoe' (the name of [the] town [in which the author lives]) shows up [in searches] because [that] shows [her] location. [The author is not] with [the large publisher named] Glencoe."
900.	Jensen, Frode
901.	Jeremiah Films
902.	Jetpack Academy
903.	Jett Games
904.	Jim Hodges Audio Books
905.	J. Jennings Publishing Company
906.	Johnson, Dani
907.	Johnson O'Connor Research Foundation
908.	Joint Military Cadets of America
909.	Jonathan Parker Adventure Series
910.	Jotham's Journey (Arnold Ytreeide)
911.	Journaling Habit, The (The Homeschool Shop)
912.	Journey through Learning, A
913.	Journey through Time
914.	Joy Berry Books
915.	Joyful Heart Learning (Hubbard's Cupboard)
916.	Joy Tunes
917.	JSTOR Research Basics
918.	Judson Press

919.	Jump in Writing (Sharon Watson)
920.	JUMP Math (2009 Canadian version)	Though a new U.S. Edition of JUMP Math is fully aligned with the CCS, the original 2009 Canadian version of the program has not been and will not be altered. The company will maintain the original version while also promoting the aligned version so “learners can choose the set that best meets their needs.”
921.	Jump Start (Knowledge Adventure) (gaming site only)	The Jump Start gaming site is not CCS-aligned, though the Jump Start curriculum (available for download and on disc) is aligned.
922.	Junior Explorers
923.	Just the Facts (Cerebellum Corporation)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
924.	Karis Math
925.	Kaufman, Nancy
926.	Keepers of the Faith Contenders for the Faith Keepers at Home
927.	Keepsake Curriculum
928.	Keith's Think Zone
929.	Kelso's Choice (Cerebellum Corporation)
930.	Kesler Science	Kesler Science “is written to support the Texas TEKS (6 th -8 th),” not the CCS/NGSS. “It’s possible that [the author] will write some curriculum with NGSS standards as the objective, but [he doesn’t] have a timetable on when that may be.”
931.	Kester Braille
932.	Keyboard Classroom
933.	Key Books
934.	Keys, Dalen
935.	Keys for Kids Ministries
936.	Key to... Math Workbooks (McGraw-Hill)	Though McGraw-Hill has aligned most of its materials, the Key to... Math Workbooks currently remain independent of the CCS.
937.	Kidipede

938.	Kidology
939.	Kids4Truth
940.	KidsBooks
941.	Kids Can Sew
942.	Kids Cook Real Food
943.	Kids Corner (ReFrame Media)
944.	Kids Health
945.	Kids Love Travel
946.	Kids Math Games
947.	Kids of Courage (Voice of the Martyrs)
948.	Kids of Integrity (Focus on the Family)
949.	Kidsongs
950.	Kids Sewing
951.	KidsTalkAboutGod
952.	KidsTek Learning
953.	Kids Times Tables
954.	Kids' Wings
955.	Kidware Software
956.	KidzClix.net
957.	Kilbride, Susan	Susan Kilbride will not change her books' content to align with the CCS. Someday she may show correlations, but she has no immediate plans to do so.
958.	Kimber Academy
959.	Kinderart
960.	Kindergarten Complete
961.	KinderTown (Demme Learning)	“KinderTown is an app for parents to find other educational apps for use with their children.” Though marketed by Demme Learning, which has aligned products (i.e., Math-U-See), KinderTown is not purposely connected to the CCS. However, some of the apps to which it directs parents may be CCS-connected so parents should check the CCS status of each individual recommendation.
962.	Kindness Elves, The
963.	King Alfred's English (The Shorter

	Word)
964.	Kingdom Games (4Soils)
965.	Kingstone Comics
966.	King's Way Classical Academy
967.	KirkCameron
968.	Kirkwood Education Online
969.	Kiselev's Geometry
970.	KISS Grammar
971.	Kitchen Stewardship
972.	Kitchen Table Math (Dr. Wright)
973.	kiupe	kiupe's current educational apps - Multiplications with Math Mathews and Mental Math with Math Mathews – are not aligned with the CCS and will not be changed to align. If the company develops new apps, though, they will written to align.
974.	Kiwi Crate (Kiwi Crate)	Kiwi Crate is for Ages 5-8. The parent company offers other resources – Koala Crate, Tinker Crate, and Doodle Crate – for other age groups. Each product has a distinctive focus. The company has no current plans to align with the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
975.	KizPhonics	KizPhonics may choose to align to the CCS at some point but has no immediate plans to do so.
976.	Knowledge Box Central
977.	Knowledge of Music
978.	Koala Crate (Kiwi Crate)	Koala Crate is for Ages 3-4. The parent company offers other resources – Kiwi Crate, Tinker Crate, and Doodle Crate – for other age groups. Each product has a distinctive focus. The company has no current plans to align with the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
979.	KONOS
980.	krazydad
981.	Kregel Publications
982.	Kristi Hill Music
983.	Kulture Krate
984.	Kwik Learning

	RESOURCE	NOTES
985.	Ladd Family Adventure Series, The (Mott Media Publishing)
986.	LaLa Logic
987.	Lampighter
988.	Landmark Complete Curriculum (Landmark Baptist Press)
989.	Lamp and Quill International
990.	Lampstand Press	Lampstand Press offers online classes using the Tapestry of Grace curriculum, which is independent of the CCS.
991.	Language Olympics (ILS Market)
992.	Language Together
993.	Language Tree	Language Tree currently offers materials for elementary grades only and those resources have not been and will not be altered to comply with any aspect of the CCS. If Language Tree decides to develop materials for the secondary level, those may be written to align, but the company has no current plans for such materials.
994.	Language Tune-Up Kit
995.	Lanternfish ESH
996.	Lark Crafts
997.	Latin in the Christian Trivium
998.	Latin Road to English Grammar, The (Schola Publishing)
999.	Latter Day Learning
1000.	Laurel Springs School	Some Laurel Springs classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. But non-AP Laurel Springs material is independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Laurel Springs will have to make related changes as well.

1001.	Layers of Learning	Layers of Learning “is not common core aligned...has never been changed to fit with any government standards...[and has] no plans to align with common core ever.” Please note that the plans do “recommend many web resources throughout,” some of which might be connected to the CCS, but that such links are optional and supplementary to the overall program.
1002.	LDhope (Essential Learning Institute)
1003.	LeadershipForKids
1004.	Leading God's Generation
1005.	Learnables, The
1006.	Learn and Master
1007.	Learn Differently
1008.	Learn Engineering
1009.	Learn for Your Life	Learn for Your Life may decide at some point to show correlations to the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so.
1010.	Learning Adventures
1011.	Learning Breakthrough
1012.	LearningHerbs
1013.	Learning Language Arts through Literature (Common Sense Press)	Current Common Sense Press materials are not aligned. The company has not said that it won't align future products - thus, that remains a possibility – but there are no specific plans for that at this time.
1014.	Learning Planet
1015.	Learning Rivers (Christian Cottage)	Materials written directly by Christian Cottage are not aligned, but its full curriculum uses some materials from companies, including Easy Grammar and BJU, that are correlated with the CCS and others, such as Modern Curriculum Press, Evan-Moor, and EPS, that offer many explicitly aligned products. Christian Cottage consults with families to create a custom curriculum program for each student, so parents desiring to refrain from using CCS-related materials could discuss that with the consultants.

1016.	LearningRx
1017.	Learning Station, The
1018.	Learning Styles (Mott Media Publishing)
1019.	Learning Success
1020.	Learning through History
1021.	Learning through Listening	Learning through Listening contains lesson plan ideas that were all written prior to the advent of the CCS. At this point, the site is being maintained, but no new content is being added. It's possible that at some point in the future the lesson plans will be correlated to the CCS, but the company has no plans to do so at this time.
1022.	Learn Math Fast
1023.	Learn Our History	Though the Learn Our History spokesman, Mike Huckabee, promotes the CCS, the Learn Our History materials will remain unaligned.
1024.	Learn Piano by Ear
1025.	Learn Quickly	Learn Quickly is correlated to the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) and to the Comprehensive Adult Student Assessment Systems (CASAS) rather than to the CCS.
1026.	Learn Spanish with Grace
1027.	Learn That Word
1028.	Learn to Draw (Oistein Kristiansen)
1029.	Learn to Learn
1030.	Learn to Play Music
1031.	Legacy Documentaries (Dean Butler)
1032.	LEMILOE Publishing
1033.	Lemonhass	Lemonhass "is completely in the Spanish language designed for Spanish speaking homeschool families around the world. [It is] based out of Mexico and...does not follow the CCS."
1034.	Lesson Plan Ladies	Lesson Plan Ladies utilizes some books from companies that are now aligned with the CCS (i.e., Good Year Books, Gryphon House). However, its lesson plans were specifically written to earlier (pre-CCS) editions of the books

		(from the 1990s and early 2000s) and will not be updated to match with any aligned editions of the books that may be published going forward. Additionally, as Lesson Plan Ladies add plans for more grade/age levels, it will consciously work to avoid CCS-aligned resources.
1035.	Let's Play Math
1036.	Letter Leaders
1037.	Liahona Academy	Liahona Academy creates its own history and language arts resources. Its choices for science are currently in flux, but it is committed to using only non-CCS resources. For math, the program uses the public school version of Saxon and Math-U-See. But it only allows the 2004 (pre-CCS) edition of Saxon and will only utilize pre-2013 editions of Math-U-See.
1038.	Liberty Aloud
1039.	Liberty & Independence Press
1040.	Liberty Classroom
1041.	Liberty's Kids (DiC Entertainment)	Liberty's Kids was produced in 2002-2003, well before the CCS came into existence, and has not been altered since its creation.
1042.	Liberty's Path
1043.	Liberty Tutorials	Liberty Tutorials is committed to using only pre-CCS editions of its various recommended texts. "If [those editions] stop being published [it hopes] that another publishing company would buy the rights of publication... [And] if that does not happen, [Liberty Tutorials would] probably try to purchase a set of used texts and lease them to [its] students each year."
1044.	Library Video Company
1045.	Lifegroove
1046.	Life Launch
1047.	Life of Fred
1048.	LIFEPAC (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines, including LIFEPAC.
1049.	Lifeprint (ASLU)	The creator of Lifeprint has not yet looked at the CCS. He may (or may not) alter his program for it once he examines the standards.

1050.	LIFE School	LIFE School is committed to its program remaining independent of the CCS. It is worth noting, though, that users seeking to avoid the CCS should use caution when choosing from among the math options suggested by LIFE School. One option, Math-U-See, is CCS-aligned (at the elementary level) and the other two options, ALEKS and Saxon, both have aligned and unaligned versions.
1051.	Lifestyle of Learning
1052.	Lightbot	Lightbot may choose to align with the CCS in the future but has no immediate plans to do so.
1053.	LightHome Publications
1054.	Lighthouse Christian Academy	Lighthouse Christian Academy does offer students the Stanford 10 standardized test and Rosetta Stone foreign language courses, both of which are aligned to the CCS. However, taking the test is not required to be enrolled in the academy program, and foreign language is an elective.
1055.	Lincoln Christian Academy	Lincoln Christian Academy uses Accelerated Christian Education for its coursework.
1056.	Lingua Latin Online (Compass Classroom)
1057.	Linguistica360
1058.	LinkedIn Learning	LinkedIn Learning “[doesn't] have [the] specific functionality [to align with the CCS]” at this time, but may consider doing so in the future.
1059.	Linney's Latin Class
1060.	Lit2Go (Florida Center for Instructional Technology)
1061.	LITClub, The (Ali Dent)	Because the author and publisher of The LITClub live in Texas, the CCS is not “an issue.” When asked if the program is aligned with the Texas-based CSCOPE initiative, the publisher answered, “We don't have a comment regarding that.”
1062.	LiteracySoft	LiteracySoft may choose to align with the CCS at some point in the future but has no immediate plans for doing so at this time.

1063.	Literary Lessons from the Lord of the Rings (Homescholar Books)
1064.	literatureplace.com
1065.	Little Acorn Learning
1066.	Little Blast
1067.	Little Flowers Girls' Club (Behold Publications)
1068.	Little Giant Steps
1069.	Little Passports
1070.	Little Pim
1071.	Little Women Hospitality Program (Behold Publications)
1072.	Little Yellow Book Study Guides
1073.	LitWits
1074.	Live & Learn Press
1075.	Lively Latin
1076.	Livemocha (Rosetta Stone)
1077.	Living Books Curriculum (Jim and Sheila Carroll)	The teaching guides and other materials written by Living Books Curriculum are not aligned, and the publisher notes that LBC has no interest in aligning any of its program. The curriculum does currently suggest the use of three CCS-correlated Usborne books in the Grade 1 program. However, I noted only that small ancillary connection as I looked through all the LBC recommended materials, and LBC is looking to replace those titles. Additionally, the LBC publishers pointed out that, "None of our books [is] 'required' in the sense that the curriculum cannot be accomplished without it. The thing that is required is the method of living books and life experience. Our oft-repeated slogan is, 'It's not the books; it's the method.'" Thus, a parent could easily substitute alternate, non-aligned books for the three Usborne titles.
1078.	Living Language (Random House)
1079.	Living Math	Living Math suggests the use of some CCS-aligned books (i.e., Math-U-See, Right Start, Everyday Math, etc.). None is required, though, and non-CCS alternatives are also recommended.

1080.	Living Waters
1081.	Logic (Romans Road Media)	Logic is written by the Curriculum Director of Romans Road Media, which is independent of the CCS.
1082.	Logic and Analysis Course (Jon Rappoport)
1083.	Logic of English	None of the Logic of English materials have been changed to align to the CCS. The publisher feels a call to help children in the schools learn to read and realizes she must “speak the language” of the schools in order to do so. Thus, the Foundations program (for K-2) has been correlated so the materials might be used in public schools, but the actual content of the program has not been changed. And all other Logic of English materials remain independent of the CCS.
1084.	Logos Bible Software (Faithlife)	Logos Bible Software has no plans to incorporate the CCS. However, “most of [its] resources are Logos editions of existing books, so if those resources are updated, [Logos] would eventually do the same.”
1085.	Logos Press (Canon Press)	Logos Press offers only unaligned materials in almost every subject area. However, it does utilize Noeo for elementary science, and the Noeo kits include some aligned materials (i.e., DK). Additionally, Logos offers at least one Advanced Placement (AP) course. And, though AP is not directly covered by the CCS because AP courses are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses, it's worth noting that all AP courses must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, Logos Press may have to make related changes as well.
1086.	Logos Science
1087.	Lonely Planet Kids
1088.	Lone Pine Classical School
1089.	Lord's Press
1090.	Lost Classics Primary Language Lessons	The content of the Lost Classics books has not been changed to align with CCS. There is a

	Intermediate Language Lessons	possibility that Lost Classics may add information to teachers' guides only, for those interested in knowing how the books' material aligns. But the company hasn't decided if it will do that so they remain unaligned.
1091.	Love and Learning
1092.	Loyal Books
1093.	Lucid Education (Derek Owens)
1094.	Lukeion Project, The	Some Lukeion Project classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. But non-AP Lukeion Project material is independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to "reconcile" AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by The Lukeion Project will have to make related changes as well.
1095.	Lumosity
1096.	lynda.com	lynda.com does offer (under its Teacher Tips category) a few tutorials that explain aspects of the CCS. However, instructional materials in other content areas (i.e., subjects that K-12 students might typically access) have not been affected by the CCS.
1097.	Lyrical Learning

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1098.	Machowski, Marty
1099.	"Mad about Jesus" Laboratories
1100.	Mad Dog Math
1101.	MadLibs	Though MadLibs' parent company has chosen to correlate and align many of its resources, MadLibs itself is not affected by the CCS.
1102.	Madsen Method, The

1103.	Maestro Books	The author and illustrator team that creates the Maestro Books is committed to producing high-quality, unbiased, agenda-free resources for young children. And, once copyrighted, the content of the materials cannot be altered without their permission. That said, because the books are actually published by HarperCollins , a mainstream publisher, it is possible that HC might produce supplementary, CCS-related resources to accompany Maestro Books titles.
1104.	Maestro Classics
1105.	Magnobrain
1106.	Mailbox Club, The
1107.	Mail Order Mystery	Mail Order Mystery is currently independent of the CCS. However, in the future the company “might explore the possibility of creating versions of [its] mysteries that meet these standards or are created specifically for classrooms or even just designed for larger groups of kids.”
1108.	Majesty Music
1109.	Making Art Fun
1110.	Making Math Meaningful (Cornerstone Curriculum)
1111.	Making Music Fun
1112.	Maloney Method
1113.	Mango Languages Homeschool	Mango Languages has several different language-learning divisions, each of which operates rather independently of the others. Though other areas of the company are still deciding how to address the CCS, Mango Languages Homeschool has made a conscious choice to remain independent. It's also important to note that Mango Math Group, which is listed on the Explicitly Aligned list, is a completely different company with no connection to Mango Languages.
1114.	Manning Publications
1115.	Mantle Ministries (Little Bear Wheeler)
1116.	Marie's Words
1117.	Marini Made Harps
1118.	Marsh Media	If Common Core Standards for Puberty/Health

		are developed, Marsh Media will adapt some of its Puberty program materials to them. However, it will continue to offer several versions of its Puberty programs “with varying information, to ensure that every school across the country will be able to find a program that fits their specific curriculum.” If its Character Education books are “not intended to meet CCS.”
1119.	Master Books (New Leaf Publishing Group)
1120.	Master Clubs
1121.	Mastering Mathematics (Mastery Publications)
1122.	Master of Memory
1123.	Masterpiece Art Instruction
1124.	Mastery Publications
1125.	Mater Amabilis
1126.	Math-Aids.com	Currently, all content on Math-Aids.com is independent of the CCS. The site author is in the process of creating a separate section of aligned material. The CCS section will be clearly labeled as such when it is added.
1127.	Mathanimals, The
1128.	Math and Physics for Homeschool Students (Derek Owens)
1129.	Math Antics	Math Antics may choose at some point to align with the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so.
1130.	Math Blaster (Knowledge Adventure)
1131.	Math Celebrity	Math Celebrity offers its program users a choice between calculators independent of the CCS and those aligned with the initiative. Both are available according to users' preferences.
1132.	Math Doesn't Suck (and other books by Danica McKellar)
1133.	Math-Drills.com	Math-Drills.com “caters to a worldwide audience, so choosing one curriculum over another would not serve all of [its] users.” It is possible that some content related to the CCS has been added upon user request, but given the nature of the site – helping kids to practice and, thus, retain basic math facts – any such connections are purely circumstantial.

1134.	Math Dude, The	The Math Dude podcast addresses a wide variety of math-related topics so it's possible the CCS may come up. However, broadcasts are not aiming for a connection to the CCS.
1135.	Mathematical Basteleien
1136.	Math Essentials
1137.	Math Fact Cafe
1138.	Math Facts NOW!
1139.	Math in a Box Algebra Class Online Geometry Class Online	The Math in a Box materials will not be changed to align. However, the author has not yet decided whether or not she will eventually show correlations.
1140.	Math in English	Math in English replied to queries by saying that, “unfortunately,” it does not have documents showing correlations to the CCS. It does not intend to change its content to align, but this answer may indicate the company's desire to eventually correlate.
1141.	Math in Focus (2009 version only) (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt)	The 2009 edition of Math in Focus (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt) is not aligned with the CCS, but later versions are.
1142.	Math-It (Weimar Institute)
1143.	Math-Kal
1144.	Mathlingual	Mathlingual “strongly believes in the rights of individual families to choose the educational programs they feel are best for their children. [Its] curricula are completely independent of the Common Core Initiative.”
1145.	Math Made Easy
1146.	Math Mammoth (everything except the Light Blue Series)	Most Math Mammoth materials – including the Blue Series, Green Series, current Golden Series, and old Light Blue Series – are not aligned and will not become aligned. The current edition of the Light Blue Series is aligned. The Golden Series may eventually be aligned, but the publisher does not have immediate plans to begin working on that at this time.
1147.	Math on the Level

1148.	Math Page, The
1149.	Math Relief!
1150.	Math Rider
1151.	Math/Science Nucleus
1152.	MathSecret.com
1153.	MathSlicer (Thumbstorm)
1154.	MathTacular
1155.	MathTutorDVD	MathTutorDVD's Mastering 5th Grade Math series “specifically aligns with Common Core standards.” The company is “still evaluating whether or not [it] will release subsequent sets of full grade level math curricula (probably 4th and 6th grade), or whether or not it will include Common Core.” There are no current plans to align or correlate other MathTutorDVD courses to the CCS.
1156.	Math-U-See (Secondary Level Only)	Math-U-See's secondary materials – from Pre-Algebra through Calculus (with most recent editions from 2009 and 2010) – remain independent of the CCS as of Spring 2017. However, it has added CCS-aligned pages (beginning with its 2013 editions) to every lesson in all of its elementary books from Primer through Zeta, and it does not offer versions of its aligned texts without the CCS pages. It also advertises its direct correlations with the CCS at the elementary level ; partners with eLearningk12 , which utilizes only resources from CCS-aligned companies; and announced via email in March 2013 that its “2013 editions of Primer-Zeta ensure that all of the concepts and procedures outlined in the Common Core Standards for Mathematical Content for grades K-6 is fully articulated. Although our materials are structured for skill mastery and are not divided by grade level, we have also followed, where possible, the grade level sequence within the Content Standards. As additional materials from the CCSS Initiative are released, such as the publisher’s criteria, we are also endeavoring to pass on the intent of the standards by focusing on those concepts and procedures that the Initiative describes as essential and by placing less emphasis on those that the Initiative considers to be of lesser importance.”

1157.	Mathway
1158.	Math without Borders	Though the creator of Math without Borders does not have concerns about the CCS, he does not intend to change anything in his program to consciously align with the initiative.
1159.	Math Worksheet Site, The	The Math Worksheet Site adds additional resources as teachers request them so it's possible that some sheets will be aligned going forward. However, the company also says that "we have no idea if those requests align with the common core or not because we don't care a pin about common core."
1160.	Mavis Beacon Typing (Windows)	According to its distributor, Learning Services, the Windows version of Mavis Beacon (owned by Houghton-Mifflin Harcourt) is not aligned to the CCS. The Mac version of the program (owned by Mackiev) is aligned.
1161.	Maximum Potential Kids
1162.	Maybury, Richard J. (Uncle Eric Books)
1163.	Mazor Books
1164.	McDonald	Among McDonald's more than 500 products, nine contain lists of correlations to the CCS. The other resources are independent of the initiative.
1165.	McGuffey Readers (Mott Media Publishing)
1166.	McGuffey's Online Tutor
1167.	Me & My House Ministries
1168.	Media Angels Inc. Publishing
1169.	Media Talk 101
1170.	Mega Verse Ministries
1171.	Mel Bay Publications
1172.	MEL Chemistry	The high school level MEL Chemistry material is aligned with Advanced Placement (AP) Chemistry; AP is aligned with the CCS. Elementary MEL Chemistry material is independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP material, AP is not directly covered by the CCS because AP classes and resources are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP-aligned material offered by MEL Chemistry will have to make related changes as well.

1173.	Melissa & Doug
1174.	Melk, the Christmas Monkey (Paradise Praises)
1175.	membean
1176.	Memoria Press	Memoria Press has posted its official position on its website: How will the online school and curriculum be impacted by The Common Core?
1177.	MemoryTyper
1178.	Menno Media (Herald Press)
1179.	Mensch on a Bench, The
1180.	Mentoring Our Own (formerly Moor House Academy and Royal Academe)
1181.	Mick Art Productions Publishing
1182.	Micro Business for Teens
1183.	MIDI for Kids
1184.	Midwest Christian Academy	Midwest Christian Academy utilizes PACES from Accelerated Christian Education (ACE), which are independent of the CCS.
1185.	Midwest Theological Forum
1186.	Mighty Book
1187.	Millward, Randi L.
1188.	Ministry-to-Children
1189.	MindWare	MindWare sells its own products as well as products from other vendors. In regard to its own products, it does “not have a current system in place to rate [its] proprietary items to follow the NGSS, Common Core and C3,” but it may consider doing so in the future.
1190.	Minecraft	Though Microsoft – whose owner, Bill Gates, is a strong proponent of the CCS – bought Minecraft in 2014, it has not made any CCS-related changes to the game. However, third-party vendors who offer various Minecraft-related sites may or may not add a CCS component. For example, Skrafty Homeschool Minecraft, GameEd Academy, Homeschool with MineCraft remain independent of the CCS, but Lessons4Minecraft has created CCS-correlated plans in several subject areas. Thus, one must check the status of each potential Minecraft-oriented site for confirmation either way.

1191.	MinutePhysics
1192.	Miquon Math (Rainbow Resource)
1193.	Miracle of America
1194.	Mirror Publishing
1195.	Mission Imperative
1196.	MIT Open Courseware	MIT Open Courseware is “a free online library of the course materials used to teach MIT undergraduate and graduate courses.” As such, it claims no connection with the CCS. However, it is worth noting that the Saylor K-12 program and a number of other proponents of the CCS recommend using MIT Open Courseware to meet the CCS.
1197.	Model Me Kids
1198.	Modern Charlotte Mason, A	A Modern Charlotte Mason suggests some correlated resources (i.e., Handwriting without Tears, Family Math), but these resources are either one of several suggested options or are optional reference resources. Additionally, it suggests a few resources from companies that are now aligned with the CCS (i.e., McGraw-Hill), but the suggested editions have pre-CCS copyright dates. It actually “use[s] living books instead of curriculum for most teaching.”
1199.	Modern Publishing (Kappa Books)
1200.	Modern Signs Press
1201.	Modesty Matters
1202.	Moebius Noodles
1203.	Mommy Speech Therapy (Little Bee Speech)
1204.	Monarca Language

1205.	Monarch (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines, including Monarch.
1206.	Money Bright Kids
1207.	Monkey Preschool (Thup Games)
1208.	Moody Publishers
1209.	Moonjar
1210.	Moore Home Schooling
1211.	Mostly Bright Ideas
1212.	MotherboardBooks.com
1213.	Mothmatic	Mothmatic is a subsidiary of Digital Dialects, which is independent of the CCS.
1214.	Moti-Venture
1215.	Mott Media Publishing
1216.	Move It Math
1217.	MovieLit.com
1218.	Mr. Martini's Classroom
1219.	Mr. Science Teacher
1220.	Mrs Ds Corner	Mrs Ds Corner sells several hundred products, most of which are not labeled for common core. However, several items are tagged as aligning with the CCS .
1221.	MrsPancake
1222.	Mrs. Taylor's Homeschool Science Class	Mrs. Taylor's Homeschool Science Class uses only Apologia books; Apologia is independent of the CCS.
1223.	MultiTasking Mom, The
1224.	Museum of the Bible
1225.	music4homeschool
1226.	MusIQ Homeschool
1227.	Music Teacher's Games
1228.	Muzzy Languages
1229.	My Audio School
1230.	My Bible First!
1231.	My Catholic Faith Delivered

1232.	MyHomeschoolMathClass.com
1233.	My Place with Jesus
1234.	My Rocketbook
1235.	My Secret Math Tutor
1236.	Mystery of History, The (Bright Ideas Press)
1237.	My Tech High
1238.	My TEK Lab
1239.	Mythbusters Curriculum	The MythBusters curricular materials available to homeschoolers (i.e., video segments available via DE Streaming, teacher's guides, and student peer review sheets) "have not been altered for the purpose of aligning with the Common Core or Next Generation Science Standards," and the company has no plans to alter or correlate those materials going forward. The program's DE Science Techbooks will be aligned to NGSS, but those resources are only sold to conventional schools, not to homeschoolers.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1240.	NAMC's 3-6 Montessori Homeschool Program
1241.	Nana-Pie	All current Nana-Pie products were created prior to 2008 (thus, prior to the advent of the CCS) and have not been altered for the CCS.
1242.	Nancy Larson Science
1243.	National Association for Child Development (NACD)	NACD helps parents assess "how a child is functioning and processing information and then recommend[s] instructional strategies to teach the child at that level while designing activities to improve the child's ability to process information and think more conceptually." It will only consider CCS materials by specific parent request for such resources.
1244.	National Bible Bee (The Shelby Kennedy Foundation)
1245.	National Bible Bowl
1246.	National Center for Constitutional Studies

1247.	National Christian Forensics and Communications Association (NCFCA)
1248.	National Driver Training
1249.	National Girls Ministries (Missionettes)	National Girls Ministries (Missionettes) is affiliated with National Royal Rangers, which is independent of the CCS.
1250.	National Royal Rangers
1251.	Natural Math	Natural Math incorporates both Moebius Noodles and Playing with Math, both of which are listed separately in the database.
1252.	Natural Speller
1253.	Nature Friend Magazine
1254.	Naval Sea Cadets (U.S. Navy)
1255.	NavPress
1256.	NC in a Nutshell (Mastery Publications)
1257.	Need to Know Publishing
1258.	Nehemiah Institute
1259.	NEST Animated DVDs
1260.	Neumann Press (TAN Books)
1261.	NeuroASL
1262.	New American Cursive
1263.	New Creations
1264.	New Growth Press
1265.	New Learning Publishing	New Learning Publishing aligns to pre-CCS New York state standards.
1266.	New Liberty Videos
1267.	New Masters Academy	New Masters Academy is currently independent of the CCS. "However [it] will consider looking into [the CCS] in the future."
1268.	New Millennium Girls Books
1269.	New Testament Greek Online (Compass Classroom)
1270.	Next Level Home School
1271.	NIA Unit Studies
1272.	N.I.N.E. Enterprises, Inc. Phonogram Page Spell Drill	Most N.I.N.E. Enterprises, Inc. products are independent of the CCS. However, the Interactive Grammar Notebook is correlated.

	Johnny Can Spell Johnny Can Write Grammar Applications
1273.	Ninja Roots	Ninja Roots may consider showing correlations to or creating alignment with the CCS/NGSS/C3 in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
1274.	Noah Plan, The (Foundaion for American Christian Education)	Because The Noah Plan recommends both the first and second editions of Right Start Math and does not readily distinguish between the two, users will want to be aware of which edition they choose. The First Edition of Right Start is independent of the CCS, while the Second Edition is aligned.
1275.	No-Nonsense Algebra (Math Essentials)
1276.	North Star Geography (Bright Ideas Press)
1277.	Northwestern Publishing House
1278.	Northwest Treasures
1279.	Northwoods Press (Donna Ward)
1280.	No Starch Press	Most No Starch Press books are independent of the CCS, but CCS correlations have been developed for a few titles.
1281.	Notebooking Nook
1282.	NotebookingPages.com
1283.	Notgrass
1284.	Nothing New Press
1285.	Novare Science and Math	Novare has secondary science materials, but no actual math curriculum. Its math component is a consulting service for Christian schools.
1286.	Novel Insights Plus
1287.	Numicon
1288.	Nutrition 101 (Growing Healthy Homes)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1289.	O'Dell, Angela (Jelly Bean Jar Publications)	"None of [Angela O'Dell's] books are or have ever been published by a Common Core aligned publishing company. The name 'Glencoe' (the name of [the] town [in which the author lives]) shows up [in searches] because [that] shows [her] location. [The author is not] with [the large publisher named] Glencoe.”

1290.	Oh Amanda
1291.	Okee Dokee Brothers, The
1292.	Old-Fashioned Education, An	Nearly all the links on An Old-Fashioned Education are for resources dating to the late 19 th and early 20 th centuries. The site does link to a more current Scott-Foresman online grammar and writing handbook, but that resource appears to pre-date the CCS, as the standards referenced on that site are for a few particular, individual states, not anything resembling the CCS.
1293.	Old Western Culture (Romans Road Media)
1294.	One Year Adventure Novel (Clear Water Press)
1295.	Online School of Mathematics (Home Campus)	Online School of Mathematics uses curriculum from the country of Singapore , not Singapore math as marketed in the U.S.
1296.	Open Texture
1297.	Orange/Core Essentials (ReThink Group)	Orange/Core Essentials is aligned with the Character Education Partnership’s 11 Principles of Effective Character Education.
1298.	Ornament Publications
1299.	Orphs of the Woodlands (StarToaster)
1300.	Quino Languages
1301.	Our Daily Bread Christian University
1302.	Our Lady of Victory
1303.	Our Lady's Honor Guard (Behold Publications)
1304.	Outschool	“Outschool offers online classes by independent teachers. ...[And] the content and format of classes is entirely in the hands of teachers. Outschool has no role in setting curriculum.” Thus, though Outschool hopes to add a feature through which “teachers [could] indicate if their classes are aligned with any standards” in the future, there is currently no way to confirm the status of any Outschool course unless those interested in the classes contact each individual instructor to discern his/her position on the CCS/NGSS/C3.

1305.	Outside the Brick
1306.	Owl & Mouse
1307.	Owlegories
1308.	Oxford Owl
1309.	Oxford University Press

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1310.	PAF Program	For in-house informational/research purposes, the PAF Program has analyzed ways in which its materials – as written – happen to match some of the CCS. However, the company does not promote or advertise any such connections at this time.
1311.	P&R Publishing	As a provider of literature, the CCS does not apply to P&R Publishing's products.
1312.	PaperRater
1313.	Paradigm Accelerated Curriculum
1314.	Parchment Tutorials
1315.	Parent Child Press (Montessori Services)
1316.	Parenting Self-Government
1317.	Passport to Culture	Passport to Culture may choose at some point in the future to correlate or align to the CCS, but has no immediate plans to do so.
1318.	Passport to the Nations	IND
1319.	Patch the Pirate Club (Majesty Music)
1320.	Pathway Publishers
1321.	Patriot's History of the United States, A (Larry Schweikart)
1322.	Patriotic Penmanship
1323.	Pattern Based Writing: Quick & Easy Essay
1324.	Pecci Educational Publishers
1325.	Peel Productions (Doug DuBosque)
1326.	Penny Gardner

1327.	Pentime Penmanship
1328.	Perfect Praise Publishing
1329.	Permacharts
1330.	Permaculture Student, The
1331.	Peterson Directed Handwriting
1332.	Petite Feet Dance	Petite Fee Dance doesn't "feel the Common Core is really a consideration for [its] videos, but...may reconsider that at a later date."
1333.	PetraLingua
1334.	Phillips, Jenny
1335.	Phonics on the Web
1336.	Phonics Page, The (40L)
1337.	Phonics Pathways (Jossey-Bass/Wiley)	Though many Jossey-Bass/Wiley products have been aligned with the CCS, Phonics Pathways is not part of the company's "Common Core Standard Series." The content of Phonics Pathways will not be altered for the CCS.
1338.	Phonics Road to Spelling & Reading, The (Schola Publishing)
1339.	Phonics Tutor
1340.	Phonics (Mott Media Publishing)
1341.	Phonogram Page (N.I.N.E. Enterprises, Inc.)
1342.	Photographic L.I.G.H.T. Academy
1343.	PiAnimals
1344.	PianoChops
1345.	Piano for Life
1346.	Piano Nanny
1347.	Piano Pronto
1348.	Piano Wizard Academy	Piano Wizard Academy may consider correlating or aligning in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
1349.	Picard, Marie
1350.	Pickel the Pirate
1351.	Picture Me Reading
1352.	Picture-Smart Bible, The
1353.	Pilgrim Institute, The

1354.	Pimsleur (Simon & Schuster)
1355.	Pinnacle Curriculum	The Pinnacle Curriculum was written before the development of the CCS, and the publishers have no plans to revise it to make CCS-related changes. Thus, its reference to “key standards” is not related to the CCS.
1356.	Pin It! Maps
1357.	Pioneer Clubs
1358.	Pioneer Online Academy
1359.	Pirasta
1360.	Plain and Not So Plain
1361.	Play Attention
1362.	Playing with Math	According to the author of Playing with Math, “Much of [the book] is related to [the eight CCS] mathematical practice standards, not because [I] followed them on purpose, but because they reflect thinking similar to [mine].” Thus, the book is technically independent of the CCS and the author does not promote the initiative in the book. However, because the books' content does knowingly reflect the CCS in many ways and because the author may reference the CCS standards in blog posts – not the book itself – listing it as both independent and correlated seems appropriate.
1363.	Playnormous
1364.	Plymouth Rock Foundation
1365.	Pockets Magazine
1366.	Poetry4Kids	Poetry4Kids does “not concern [itself] with state-mandated education standards. [It does] provide reading level information on the poems that [it posts on its] website, in case this is useful to teachers, but that's about it,” and the provider of the readability scores advertises that is “confirmed by Common Core as a valid, reliable text complexity tool.” However, one needn't use that guide to use Poetry4Kids, and “[the poems' author does] not write educational materials, [instead leaving] it entirely up to educators to decide how or if [his] work fits in whatever curriculum framework they are using.”
1367.	Polished Cornerstones

1368.	Polka Dots Publishing (Melissa Northway)
1369.	Pollan, Michael The Omnivore's Dilemma
1370.	Portraits of American Girlhood (Units Unique)
1371.	Positive Action Bible Curriculum
1372.	Postal Bible Studies
1373.	Practical Inspirations
1374.	Prager University
1375.	Prairie Primer (Cadron Creek)
1376.	Praise Hymn
1377.	Precept Ministries
1378.	prek-8.com
1379.	Preschool Prep Company
1380.	Priddy Books
1381.	Primal Math
1382.	Princess Parables, The
1383.	Printers Row Publishing Group (formerly Baker & Taylor)	At this point, most Printers Row books are independent of the CCS. However, the company does have some books under its Silver Dolphin imprint whose content is " taken from several key points in the Common Core State Standards. "
1384.	PrintNPractice.com (formerly A-Z-Worksheets.com)
1385.	Professor B
1386.	Professor Carol	Professor Carol notes that the CCS is not applicable to the content she offers.
1387.	Professor Charles Says
1388.	Professor Noggin
1389.	Professor Toto
1390.	Progeny Press
1391.	Progressive Phonics
1392.	Promises of the Constitution
1393.	Pronunciator
1394.	Prosperity4Kids, Inc.

1395.	Providence Foundation
1396.	Provision Room, The
1397.	Pryor Convictions Media
1398.	Publications International (PIL)
1399.	Puertas Abiertas (Spanish for Kids)
1400.	Purdue OWL	The creators of Purdue OWL will soon be unveiling a new resource for middle school students that uses some aspects of the CCS, but Purdue OWL itself will not be changed.
1401.	PureFlix
1402.	Puritans' Home School Curriculum, The	Some text recommendations in The Puritans' Home School Curriculum (i.e., Usborne, Wordly Wise, BJU) are correlated to the CCS. Those resources do not have direct CCS content since they are correlated, not explicitly aligned, but The Puritans' Home School Curriculum does not always suggest non-aligned alternatives.
1403.	Purple House Press
1404.	Purposeful Design: Understanding the Creation (Jay Schabacker)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1405.	QEB Publishing (U.S. Imprint of QED Publishing)
1406.	Quality Science Labs
1407.	Quartermile Math	The CCS has no influence on Quartermile, which is correlated to earlier state standards and educational research. It's possible that Quartermile may be correlated to the CCS at some point, but the program's actual content will not be changed, and the publisher has no plans to show correlations at this time.
1408.	Queen Homeschool Supplies
1409.	Queen of Heaven Academy	Queen of Heaven Academy is aware that Math-U-See, one of its math resources, has aligned the 2013 editions of its elementary books with the CCS. But Queen of Heaven's "courses are set up so older versions of Math-U-See texts may be used rather than the newer versions which contain the CCS." And where it uses books from other now-aligned companies (i.e., Pearson, Glencoe), the editions pre-date 2010 (when the CCS first began to be implemented). Queen of Heaven intends to continue purposely using pre-CCS books and to also write its own materials because “remaining faithful to the magisterial teaching of the Catholic Church is [its number one] priority.”

1410.	Quest Clubs
1411.	Quick Study Labs
1412.	Quilty Box
1413.	Quizlet	Quizlet material is user-generated. When utilizing content generated by others, one should be mindful that some content is aligned with the CCS and some is not.
1414.	QuizLife	QuizLife is owned by the company that also owns Coolmath.com; its resources are all independent of the CCS.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1415.	Raggs	The Raggs “educational goals...are aligned with the [2002] National Association for the Education of Young Children” (NAEYC). Even though NAEYC may be working toward alignment with the CCS, if Raggs maintains its alignment with the 2002 standards, it will remain independent of the CCS.
1416.	Rainbow Horizons Publishing
1417.	Randall House
1418.	Rapid Typing	Rapid Typing is independent of the CCS, but is “open for adding...new features which are required in the schools in all world.”
1419.	Ravensburger
1420.	Ray's Arithmetic (Mott Media Publishing)
1421.	RC History (Connecting with History)
1422.	Reading Bear
1423.	Reading Buddy Software
1424.	ReadingKEY
1425.	Reading Kingdom

1426.	Reading Lesson, The
1427.	Reading Made Easy (Valerie Bendt Books)
1428.	Reading Nook, The
1429.	Reading Portfolio
1430.	Ready-Ed Publications
1431.	Ready-Made Preschool
1432.	ReadyWriter (School Made Simple)
1433.	Real Reading Co., The
1434.	Real Science 4 Kids (Gravitas Publications)
1435.	Reason for.... A Handwriting Science Spelling (A Beginning Advantage)
1436.	Reasons to Believe
1437.	Recon
1438.	Rediscovering the Constitution in the 21st Century
1439.	Red Ted Art
1440.	Reformation Heritage Books
1441.	Remembrance Press
1442.	re-Ratify Project, The
1443.	Revival Focus Ministries
1444.	Riff Academy
1445.	Riggs Institute, The
1446.	Ring Around the Phonics	Ring Around the Phonics may add documentation to show its correlations to the CCS.
1447.	RingofFireScience.com	Ring of Fire is aligned to pre-CCS National Science Standards.
1448.	Robinson Curriculum
1449.	Rock A Lingua
1450.	Rocket Languages
1451.	Rocket Phonics
1452.	Rock Star Academy	"Based in the UK," Rock Star Academy "[doesn't]" currently align [itself] with US education policies. [However, that] is something...[it] may offer in the future.”

1453.	Rod & Staff
1454.	Rogers Center for Learning, The
1455.	Roman, Carole P.
1456.	Ronit Bird
1457.	Ron Paul Curriculum, The
1458.	Room 613
1459.	Rory's Story Cubes	“Rory's Story Cubes have not been aligned to any standards, and there are no plans to do so. As Story Cubes are a free-form creative activity, it would be contrary to the spirit of the product to ascribe limitations of any sort to its use.” However, the company has another product line – The Extraordinaires Design Studio – that is correlated to the CCS.
1460.	Rose Publishing/Aspire Press
1461.	Round World Products
1462.	Royal Road to Reading, The
1463.	Rules of the Road (Vat19)
1464.	Rummy Roots Games
1465.	Runkle Publishers	Runkle Publishers materials are sold via GeoMatters, whose resources have some ancillary connections to the CCS. Nevertheless, Runkle books do remain wholly independent of the initiative.
1466.	Rush Revere
1467.	Ruth Beechick (Mott Media Publishing)

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1468.	Sacred Revolt/Princess Within
1469.	Safely Ever After
1470.	SailAway Learning and Academy	SailAway acts as an “umbrella school” for homeschoolers nationwide, as needed. It leaves all curricular decisions up to individual parents.
1471.	Salem Ridge Press

1472.	Samson's Classroom
1473.	Sarah and David Interactive
1474.	Sassafras Science (Elemental Science)
1475.	Saxon Homeschool Saxon Phonics & Spelling Saxon Physics	Saxon Homeschool products are distributed by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt (HMH). However, though HMH generally promotes the CCS, Saxon Phonics & Spelling and Saxon Physics are independent of the CCS, while Saxon Grammar & Writing , Saxon Math K-8 , and Saxon Math 9-12 are independent and correlated. Each specific product line is listed separately for clarity's sake; please refer to the note for each for details.
1476.	Saxon Math K-8 (Saxon Homeschool)	Saxon Math K-8 was originally produced by Saxon Publishers and was completed by authors Nancy Larson and Stephen Hake in 2004, well before the advent of the CCS. The primary titles for the homeschool version are Math K, Math 1, Math 2, and Math 3. The middle grades titles are Math 5/4, Math 6/5, Math 7/6, and Math 8/7, all of which are softcover. Though the books are now distributed by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt (HMH) and despite HMH's practice of labeling subsequent re-printings as new "editions," Larson and Hake still maintain full control over the content of the textbooks and teacher's editions, and they have not allowed any changes to the contents of any of the homeschool books since they were first published. Saxon Math for schools is the Harcourt Achieve 2008 and 2009 edition. The K-2 titles are unchanged from the earlier editions, but some (non-CCS related) content changes were made; additionally, titles for the other books were changed (to Intermediate 3, 4, 5 for Grades 3-5 and Course 1, 2, 3 for Grades 6-8). Then in 2012, HMH created supplemental materials (separate from the textbooks themselves) to correlate the K-8 material to the CCS. HMH also advertises that all of Saxon Math K-12 "provides deep, long-term mastery of the content and skills called for in the Common Core State Standards."
1477.	Saxon Math 9-12 (Saxon Homeschool)	According to Stephen Hake, who wrote many of the Saxon Math K-8 titles and knows the history

		of the “Saxon Math story,” John Saxon's original high school books for homeschool - hardcover textbooks titled Algebra 1/2, Algebra 1, Algebra 2, Advanced Math, and Calculus (all with the traditional covers) - are still the same versions originally published by Saxon Publishers in 2004 and earlier. Though the books are now distributed by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt (HMH) and despite HMH's practice of labeling subsequent re-printings as new “editions,” there have been no changes to the contents of any of the original homeschool textbooks since they were published. Saxon Math for schools – including new high school books in Algebra 1, Geometry, and Algebra 2 - is the Harcourt Achieve 2008 and 2009 edition, none of which were authored by John Saxon, who died in 1996, even though they carry the Saxon imprint. However, even these books were completed before the advent of CCS, so the textbooks and teacher's editions were not created to align. That said, HMH has published detailed correlation guides for the K-8 titles and does advertise that all of Saxon Math K-12 “provides deep, long-term mastery of the content and skills called for in the Common Core State Standards.”
1478.	Saxon Phonics & Spelling (Saxon Homeschool)	Though Saxon Phonics & Spelling and other Saxon Homeschool products are sold under the auspices of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, which supports the CCS, Saxon Phonics & Spelling is independent of the initiative because the program has a pre-CCS (1998) copyright and has not been revised since its initial publication.
1479.	Saxon Physics (Saxon Homeschool)	Though Saxon Physics and other Saxon Homeschool products are sold under the auspices of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, which supports the CCS, Saxon Physics is independent of the initiative because the program has a pre-CCS (1995) copyright and has not been revised since its initial publication.
1480.	Scaredy Cat Reading System (Joyce Herzog)
1481.	Schola Classical Tutorials

1482.	Scholars Online	Scholars Online is strongly committed to maintaining its distinctive approach to classical Christian education and has no interest in aligning with the CCS. It does utilize textbooks from a number of publishers who have chosen to adopt the CCS, but at this point nearly all the required texts have copyright dates that precede the CCS. I have noted a few books with later publication dates as well as several AP courses offered by the program. Thus, I have also added Scholars Online to our Ancillary Connections list; for more information, please read the note on that list as well.
1483.	Schoolaid (Eastern Mennonite Publications)
1484.	School Express
1485.	Schoolhouse Library
1486.	Schoolhouse Publishing	Though primarily a supplier/distributor, Schoolhouse Publishing also publishes Research in Increments , Apples Daily Spelling Drills , The Log , Caution for Boys , and Caution for Girls , which are independent of the CCS.
1487.	SchoolhouseTeachers.com
1488.	Schoolingmom Homeschool Spanish
1489.	School Made Simple CalcuLadder, etc.
1490.	Science2Discover
1491.	Science Excursion
1492.	Science for High School (Bridget Ardoin)
1493.	Science in the Beginning (Dr. Jay Wile)
1494.	Science Jim
1495.	Science Kids
1496.	Science Labs-in-a-Box (EKI)
1497.	Science Logic (Eva Varga)
1498.	Sciencemonster.com
1499.	Science News for Students
1500.	Science Shepherd
1501.	Science with Me!

1502.	Science Zone (Ben Roy)
1503.	Sciexperience.com (Lainna Callentine)
1504.	SciShow
1505.	SciShow Kids
1506.	Scripps National Spelling Bee	Scripps has not made any decisions about CCS alignment. It may consider a connection to CCS at some point, but has no current plans to do so.
1507.	Scripture Adventures
1508.	Scripture Memory Fellowship
1509.	Scripture Talk Ministries
1510.	ScriptureTyper
1511.	Sea Scouts, B.S.A.
1512.	Secret Keeper Girl (Pure Freedom)
1513.	Seed-Balls	Seed-Balls is not currently correlated or aligned to the CCS or NGSS and has no immediate plans to do so. However, it would like to make some alignments in the future.
1514.	See the Light
1515.	SelectSoft
1516.	Sense-Lang.org
1517.	SEN Teacher
1518.	Sequential Spelling (Wave 3 Learning, Inc.)
1519.	Seton Home Study	Seton utilizes Modern Curriculum Press (MCP) for some math, geography, and vocabulary. However, it currently uses editions from 1994, 2003, and 2005, which are not CCS-aligned (aligned versions would be copyrighted 2010 or later). Additionally, Seton suggests some aligned materials – from Math-U-See and Spectrum – as math “supplements,” but none are required for actual course completion.
1520.	Seterra
1521.	Shakespeare in Bits (MindConnex)	Shakespeare in Bits may consider creating CCS correlations if it finds a customer demand for such a product, but it has no plans to do so at this time.
1522.	ShatterPoint Entertainment
1523.	Shepherd's Treasure, The

1524.	Sheppard Software	Sheppard Software does “not plan to change any past materials to align with the CCS - however [it] will consider the CCS when creating future content” because the public schools are its primary market. Some of the CCS-aligned products may be labeled as such, but the company's plans for that are now only tentative.
1525.	Shiller Math	Most Shiller Math resources are independent of common core. However, it offers SAT/ACT test preparation courses , and since those tests are aligned with the CCS, those courses reflect CCS content.
1526.	Shine Brite Kids
1527.	Shining Dawn Books
1528.	Shining for Jesus
1529.	Shirley's Preschool Activities
1530.	Shormann Math
1531.	Shorter Word, The (King Alfred's English)
1532.	Short Vowel Phonics
1533.	Shurley English (homeschool version only)	Products from Shurley English labeled Shurley English Homeschooling are not aligned and will remain as such. Shurley's older public school versions (with 1997, 1998, 2007 copyrights) will also remain unaligned, though only limited quantities remain available. The 2013 public school version is explicitly aligned.
1534.	Sight and Sound Reading	Sight and Sound Reading is committed to remaining unaligned with the CCS. It may decide at some point to show correlations for those interested but has no immediate plans to do so.
1535.	Sight Phonics
1536.	Signal Media Publishers	Signal Media products are not aligned with or correlated to the CCS; instead, they are correlated to the TEKS Grade 8 standards.
1537.	Signing Savvy
1538.	Signing Time (Two Little Hands)
1539.	Sign It!	Sign It! is produced by the creators of Signing Time, which is independent of the CCS.
1540.	Sign Language 101

1541.	Silverdale Press	Silverdale Press is unsure if it will choose to align with CCS/NGSS/C3, but has no current plans to do so.
1542.	Silver Moon Spelling Rules (READ Learning Educational Services)
1543.	Simple Daily Devotions for Children or the Family
1544.	Simple Schooling Classroom
1545.	Simple Solutions	Simple Solutions does not specify particular standards for its phonics and study skills resources, and uses Ohio's New Learning Standards for its Ohio Studies material. It offers both CCS-aligned and non-CCS options for math and grammar, and only CCS-aligned resources in reading, science, and social studies.
1546.	Simply Charlotte Mason (SCM)	SCM publishes over 100 of its own products, all of which are independent of the common core. It also publishes a curriculum guide that makes resource suggestions for families who want to build their own courses of study. That guide contains some suggestions for resources that have recently aligned with the CCS (i.e., Math-U-See, 2 nd Edition Right Start Math). However, independent options are also listed.
1547.	Simply Coding
1548.	Simply Grammar
1549.	Simply Music
1550.	Singapore English	Though much of the Singapore Math program is either correlated to or aligned with the CCS, Singapore English is not and will not become aligned or correlated because the company views it as supplemental material, not "core" curriculum.
1551.	Singapore Science	Though much of the Singapore Math program is either correlated to or aligned with the CCS, Singapore Science is not aligned or correlated. It is based only on the science taught in the country of Singapore.
1552.	Singing Coach
1553.	Singing Turtle Press	Though Singing Turtle Press may choose in the future to show correlations to the CCS (that decision has not yet been made), it will never alter its program's content to purposely align.

1554.	Sing 'n Speak Spanish
1555.	Sing, Spell, Read & Write (Sue Dickson)	Both Sue Dickson, the creator of Sing, Spell, Read & Write, and Pearson, the publisher, insist that neither the 1998 nor the 2004 editions will be aligned. Pearson is a major proponent of the CCS, but Ms. Dickson owns the copyright to the materials.
1556.	SketchBox
1557.	SketchUp
1558.	skilledup	skilledup courses are primarily designed for adult learners and, thus, are not directly connected to the CCS. However, because skilledup simply curates courses from literally hundreds of disparate providers, we highly recommend that those considering a skilledup course contact the particular course provider to ascertain its definitive stance on the CCS. It should also be noted a few skilledup courses – less than a dozen – do appear to provide direct instruction in how to implement the CCS.
1559.	SKrafty Homeschool Minecraft
1560.	Skyhorse Publishing
1561.	Skylight Publishing	Skylight offers computer science and AP Calculus books. Although many AP courses will be “reconciled” with the CCS, this does not appear to include calculus; thus, Skylight's AP Calculus materials will not be changed in relation to the CCS.
1562.	Sky Lights
1563.	Slavin, Stephen (Wiley)
1564.	Sleeping Bear Press
1565.	Slim Goodbody	Slim Goodbody health materials are independent of the CCS, but its math programs are correlated to the initiative.
1566.	Slow and Steady Get Me Ready	Slow and Steady Get Me Ready was published in 2002, well before the development of the CCS. The author recently died so the book will remain as it is for as long as it remains in print.
1567.	Smarr Publishers
1568.	Smart First Graders

1569.	Smart Kids Launchpad (Dave Ramsey)	Dave Ramsey's curricular materials (Foundations in Personal Finance) are correlated to the CCS, but Smart Kids Launchpad is a non-curricular supplement so it is neither correlated or aligned.
1570.	SmartKidz Media
1571.	Smarty Games
1572.	SmithHand Writing Methods
1573.	Soaring with Spelling (Jac Kris Publishing)
1574.	Sola Scriptura Studies
1575.	Soli Deo Gloria Resources
1576.	Solimar Academy	Solimar Academy “completely customize[s] for the learning needs of each child.”
1577.	SolUt Press
1578.	Sonbeams
1579.	Songs for Saplings
1580.	SonLight Education Ministry	SonLight Education Ministry is a different entity than the well-known Sonlight curriculum, which is listed elsewhere on the database.
1581.	Sound Bytes Reading
1582.	Sound Foundations
1583.	Southeast Academy	Southeast Academy uses Alpha-Omega (AOP) products throughout its programming. AOP is independent of the CCS.
1584.	So Verbose Online Writing
1585.	Sower Series, The (Mott Media Publishing)
1586.	Space Engineers (Keen Software House)
1587.	Space Scouts
1588.	Spanish Clicks (Croghan Language Academy)
1589.	Spanish for You
1590.	Spanish is Fun (AMSCO School Publications)	Though AMSCO has aligned its math, language arts, and science (to-date), its foreign language programs such as Spanish is Fun are not aligned since CCS documents for foreign language study do not (yet) exist.

1591.	Spanish with a Mission
1592.	Sparkle Stories
1593.	Speech Tails
1594.	Speed! (Highhill Education)
1595.	Speed Reading 4 Kids
1596.	Speedy Spanish (Bechtel Books)
1597.	Spell by Color (Jett Games)
1598.	Spell Drill (N.I.N.E. Enterprises, Inc.)
1599.	Spel-Lang Tree, The
1600.	Spelling Help Online	As a British entity, Spelling Help Online has no connections to the CCS. However, it's been brought to my attention that visitors to the website may see ads – including ads for CCS-related items – prominently displayed on the home page. It must be noted, though, that these ads are not chosen by the creator of Spelling Help Online; rather, they are randomly placed on the site by an app enabled on many websites.
1601.	Spelling Monster (DesireLife Software)	Spelling Monster is independent of the CCS, but its developer has considered “creating other apps specifically to align with Common Core Standards that would both evolve with and follow the child [through K-12] education.”
1602.	Spelling Power
1603.	Spelling Training
1604.	Spelling Workout	In a telephone conversation, a representative from Modern Curriculum Press/Pearson said that Spelling Workout is not aligned, and I don't have evidence to the contrary. However, readers must be aware that Pearson is a major advocate of the CCS.
1605.	Spelling You See (The Reading Doctor, Inc.)	Though marketed by Demme Learning, which has aligned products (i.e., Math-U-See), Spelling You See was created by The Reading Doctor and is not connected to the CCS.
1606.	Spelling Zone (Personal Best Academy)
1607.	Spellodrome
1608.	Spell to Write and Read
1609.	Spencerian Penmanship

	(Mott Media Publishing)
1610.	Spilling the Ink
1611.	Spinlight Studio
1612.	Spizzirri Press
1613.	SproutBox
1614.	Sproutville (4Soils)
1615.	SQUILT
1616.	Stack the Deck	Stack the Deck is no longer being published, though some copies may still be available until inventory runs out.
1617.	Standard Deviants Accelerate (Cerebellum Corporation)	Some Standard Deviants classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS. But non-AP Standard Deviants material is independent of the initiative. In terms of the program's AP preparation courses, AP classes are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses. But it's worth noting that all AP classes must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, the AP classes offered by Standard Deviants will have to make related changes as well.
1618.	Standard Deviants School (Cerebellum Corporation)
1619.	Standard Publishing
1620.	Stand to Reason (Brett Kunkle)
1621.	Star from Afar Kids
1622.	Starline Press	Starline Press is correlated to pre-CCS California state standards.
1623.	Start ASL
1624.	StarToaster (Orphs of the Woodlands)
1625.	Startwrite
1626.	Stebbing, Barry (How Great Thou Art)
1627.	Steps (formerly Connect the Thoughts)
1628.	Steps Reading Classes

1629.	Steward Ship Unit Studies	Steward Ship does include resources from some correlated companies (i.e., Usborne, Crabtree, Dover). However, books from those or other companies are merely suggestions and are not required to successfully complete the unit studies.
1630.	Stinky Kids	Stinky Kids may choose to align or correlate with the CCS in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.
1631.	Stoa Christian Homeschool Speech and Debate
1632.	Stone Soup Magazine	Stone Soup Magazine “would like to align [its] materials with the Common Core, but [it just doesn't] have the bandwidth to do that right now.”
1633.	Stone Tablet Press	Stone Table Press may choose to create a correlation chart during the summer of 2014, but has not yet decided for sure if it will do so.
1634.	Storey Publishing
1635.	Stories with Holes	The actual Stories with Holes program is independent of the CCS. However, some aligned books by other authors are sold on the Stories with Holes website.
1636.	Stories without End
1637.	Storyline Online
1638.	Storynory
1639.	Story of the World, The (Peace Hill Press)	It should be noted that, while the Story of the World texts have not been aligned, the SOTW activity books do make regular references to Usborne encyclopedic texts for supplementation, and many Usborne titles are correlated to the CCS. The Usborne texts are not required to complete the activities so SOTW appropriately remains on this list of resources independent of the CCS, but SOTW users should be aware of possible CCS alignment in the Usborne supplements.
1640.	Story Place	Story Place has no plans to align or correlate with the CCS. It is seeking a grant in order to incorporate the Every Child Ready to Read program for birth to Age 5, but that is the extent to which the content will be changed.

1641.	Straight Talk (NATHHAN)
1642.	Stratton House Science
1643.	Stress Free Kids
1644.	Strings Around the World
1645.	Struggling Reader, The
1646.	Student News Daily
1647.	Student of the Word
1648.	Student Statesmanship Institute (SSI)
1649.	Study Starters (The Homeschool Shop)
1650.	Success Reading
1651.	Sue Dickson's Songs That Teach
1652.	Sue Larkey	Sue Larkey is “based in Australia [with] different Curriculum Standards.”
1653.	Sukey's Circle (Sukey Molloy)
1654.	Summit Ministries	Current editions of Summit's curriculum products are not correlated or aligned. However, Summit has not yet decided whether or not it will correlate or align future editions.
1655.	Sunburst Visual Media (Cerebellum Corporation)
1656.	Sunday School Center
1657.	Sunday School Network
1658.	Sunshine Learning Center Online
1659.	Super Cool Art
1660.	Super Star Speech
1661.	Swipelt
1662.	Switched on Schoolhouse (SOS) (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines, including Switched-On Schoolhouse (SOS).
1663.	Switcheroozoo	As an Australia-based company, Switcheroozoo is unfamiliar with the CCS and, thus, has made no effort to align its content.
1664.	Sword Study Series (The Shelby Kennedy Foundation)
1665.	Sycamore Academy	Sycamore Academy provides a comprehensive program in all content areas. Its online program utilizes Alpha-Omega's Switched-On Schoolhouse, which is independent of the CCS. And, though its text-based program includes a large amount of unaligned material (ACE, Rod & Staff), it also includes some explicitly aligned resources (i.e., Spectrum, SRA, etc.).

1666.	Systematic Math

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1667.	TabletClass	TabletClass is not aligned with the CCS and is not formally correlated. It will simply answer questions about particular areas of correlation if asked by individual parents.
1668.	Talking Mom2Mom
1669.	Tangle Art and Drawing for Kids (Craftwhack)
1670.	TAN Homeschool
1671.	Tapestry of Grace
1672.	Taylor University Online	Taylor University Online does “not [at this time] have a formal program in place which aligns with the CCS, NGSS or the C3. This does not mean [it] won't at some point. For now [the program's] role is to offer college courses with a faith infused curriculum that high school students can take for pre-college credit.”
1673.	Teach a Child to Read with Children's Books
1674.	Teach All Kids
1675.	Teach America to Read and Spell (TATRAS)
1676.	Teachers Corner, The
1677.	Teachers Notebook	Since more than 3,800 individual teachers and homeschooling parents create the materials offered on Teachers Notebook, the site offers a mix if aligned and non-aligned material.
1678.	Teachers Pay Teachers	Individual teachers create the materials offered on Teachers Pay Teachers. And, though more than 38,000 resources offered on the site are CCS-aligned, more than 460,000 other products appear to have no CCS connections.
1679.	Teaching Cursive

1680.	Teaching Math with Manipulatives Using the Mortensen Method (Geoff White)
1681.	Teaching Textbooks	Teaching Textbooks does “not intend to alter [its] methodology or approach to the actual teaching of... material,” but it may at some point publish “supplemental material” that would essentially correlate the program to the CCS. However, as of April 2016, it remains independent of the CCS because it has does not yet have definitive plans for such material.
1682.	TeachMe (24x7digital)	“Aligning some of [its] learning topics to Common Core standards is something [TeachMe is] interested in looking into, but at this time [it doesn't] have an anything solid as to when [it] will be doing this.”
1683.	Teach Me Joy	Teach Me Joy's Hall of Heroes program recommends the use of Math Mammoth, which offers both CCS-aligned and non-CCS resources. Parents can choose from among all the Math Mammoth programs for use with Hall of Heroes . Other Teach Me Joy programs and resources are independent of the CCS.
1684.	Teach with Games
1685.	Teach Your Child Piano
1686.	Teach Your Child to Read in 100 Easy Lessons
1687.	Teach Yourself to Draw
1688.	Tea Time with Tayla
1689.	TechRocket
1690.	TeenPact
1691.	Teen Prasso
1692.	teenSMART Driving
1693.	Ten Thumbs Typing Tutor
1694.	Terrestria Chronicles, The (Tales of Castles)
1695.	Test of FAITH
1696.	That Resource Site
1697.	That the World May Know
1698.	TheChristians.com (SEARCH)

1699.	Theory Time
1700.	Thimbles and Acorns
1701.	Thinking Kids Press
1702.	Thinking Skills Club
1703.	Thinking Tree (Dyslexia Games)	Thinking Tree is a subsidiary of Dyslexia Games, which is independent of the CCS.
1704.	ThinkLanguage	ThinkLanguage may consider aligning or correlating to the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so.
1705.	Thinkwell	Some Thinkwell classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS (as noted on the lists material with Ancillary Connections and Standardized Tests). But non-AP Thinkwell material is independent of the initiative.
1706.	This Reading Mama
1707.	Thomas Jefferson Education, A
1708.	Thrive Art School	Thrive Art School is not aligned to the CCS but will be exploring details of NGSS for the Arts in the spring of 2014, deciding at that time whether or not to incorporate those standards into Thrive Art coursework.
1709.	Tiger Math
1710.	Time Chroniclrs (Creation Quest)
1711.	Times Tales (Trigger Memory System)
1712.	Tiner, John Hudson	Books written by John Hudson Tiner are published by Master Books and Mott Media Publishing, both of which are committed to remaining independent of the CCS.
1713.	Tinker Crate (Kiwi Crate)	Tinker Crate is for Ages 9-16. The parent company offers other resources – Koala Crate, Kiwi Crate, and Doodle Crate – for other age groups. Each product has a distinctive focus. The company has no current plans to align with the CCS, but may consider doing so in the future.
1714.	Tin Man Press
1715.	Tiny Tap
1716.	TippyTalk	Tippy Talk may choose to align with the CCS in the future, but has no immediate plans to do so.

1717.	TOBET (Theology of the Body Evangelization Team)
1718.	Toe by Toe	Toe by Toe is a UK-based company and, therefore, has no knowledge of the CCS. The company is in the process of developing an American version of its resources, but does not have plans to adapt for the CCS.
1719.	Together Counts	Together Counts currently has no confirmed plans to align with the CCS, but it may decide (by Summer 2014) to do so.
1720.	Tomorrow's Filmmakers
1721.	Top 10 Proofs
1722.	Topp, Carol
1723.	TOP Science (TOPS)
1724.	Torchlighters, The
1725.	Total Language Plus
1726.	Touch-Type Read and Spell (TTRS)
1727.	Toytown Treasures	Toytown Treasures materials – which cover Bible study, literature, history, and geography – are not aligned or correlated to the CCS. However, the site owners sometimes recommend aligned materials in other content areas (i.e., Khan Academy) on the home page.
1728.	Trafton, Jennifer	Jennifer Trafton's "local creative writing classes in Nashville and [her] online writing classes...are independent of Common Core, and [she has] no reason to believe that would ever change." However, in a curriculum guide she has written to accompany her children's novel, she "added parenthetical notes to indicate where elements [of it] aligned with particular Common Core Standards."
1729.	Trailblazer Books
1730.	Trail Life USA
1731.	Training Minds
1732.	Train Up a Child Publishing (Epi Kardia)
1733.	Transparent Language	Transparent Language may choose at some point to align with or correlate to the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so.

1734.	Traveling through History with Doctor Who (Mama's Little Monkeys)
1735.	Treasured Conversations
1736.	Tree Hopper Toys
1737.	Tree of Life School	Tree of Life School directed us to study its website in order to ascertain for ourselves the CCS status of the myriad resources it employs. It incorporates a lot of literature and also uses many resources that are wholly independent of the CCS. However, it also uses correlated entities (i.e., Critical Thinking Co.), resources whose publishers do not wish to answer our query (i.e., Audio-Visual Drawing), resources from companies who chose not to respond to our queries (i.e., Nelson Education), and resources that may be aligned to the CCS depending the editions used (i.e., if Tree of Life adopts the 4 th Edition Saxon Math, it will be using an aligned product). If that were to happen, Tree of Life would be ancillary connected to the CCS.
1738.	Trent Schools, The	The Trent Schools may consider the CCS at some point but has no immediate plans to do so.
1739.	Trick Geography
1740.	Trigger Memory System (Times Tales)
1741.	TRISMS
1742.	Triumphant Learning
1743.	Trivium Pursuit
1744.	Troops of Saint George
1745.	True North Reading
1746.	Truth for Kids
1747.	Truth Guards
1748.	Truth in Science	The publishers of Truth in Science have indicated they may consider showing correlations to the CCS, but that has not yet been considered.
1749.	TruthQuest History
1750.	Tuttle Publishing
1751.	Tuttle Twins, The (Libertas Institute)
1752.	tvSchoolhouse
1753.	Twinkl	Twinkl material created for the UK and Australia

		– which will be available in the US – is and will remain unaligned with the CCS even as material being created specifically for the US market will be correlated.
1754.	Two Little Hands (Signing Time)
1755.	Tyndale House Publishers	Tyndale House is giving consideration to showing correlations to the CCS, but has not yet decided what – if anything – it will do in that regard.
1756.	Typesy (eReflect)	At this time, Typesy is not connected to the CCS. However, the publisher may consider adding CCS content in the future.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1757.	Udacity
1758.	Udemy	Udemy does not require its instructors to align with any particular standards. However, those who create the classes have autonomy to design the courses according to their own set of educational standards. Udemy recommends checking individual course descriptions and/or sending a query to the instructor of any Udemy class one is considering in order to have full disclosure about possible CCS connections.
1759.	uKloo Kids
1760.	Ultimate Music Theory
1761.	Ultimate Phonics (Spencer Learning)
1762.	Unbound (Lumerit Education)s
1763.	Uncle Eric Books
1764.	Uncle Rick Audio Book Club
1765.	Under God (Mott Media Publishing)
1766.	Understanding Mathematics: From Counting to Calculus
1767.	Understanding Writing
1768.	United States Holocaust Memorial Museum
1769.	Universal Language Acquisition Tool (ULAT)
1770.	Universal Publishing	Universal Publishing may decide to show correlations to the CCS, but it has no immediate plans to do so.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1771.	University of Nebraska High School	Some University of Nebraska High School classes are Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS (as noted on the lists of material with Ancillary Connections and Standardized Tests). But non-AP University of Nebraska High School courses are aligned to Nebraska state standards, and Nebraska has not adopted the CCS.
1772.	University Press of New England	University Press of New England publishes its own material and also serves as a distributor for several other companies' products. Its own products are independent of the CCS.
1773.	UnLock Math
1774.	UnshakeableFaith	Unshakable is a Creation Today subsidiary, which is independent of the CCS.
1775.	Unshakable Girl
1776.	Up-a-do Unlimited
1777.	Up-Words Reading	Next Generation Therapy Services, the non-profit entity under which Up-Words Reading has been developed, has no connection with the CCS.
1778.	U READ THRU History (Silver Lining Press)
1779.	USAopoly	USAopoly does not currently incorporate the CCS and has no immediate plans to do so, but it may possibly consider referencing the initiative "in the ideation and concept process for future game development."
1780.	UsefulCharts.com
1781.	UShistory.org

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1782.	Valerie Bendt Books
1783.	Values & Capitalism (American Enterprise Institute - AEI)	Though an AEI research fellow has written a book that appears to show justification for the adoption of the CCS, Values & Capitalism educational materials for students have not been aligned.

1784.	ValuesParenting.com
1785.	VanCleave, Janice (Wiley)
1786.	Veggie Tales
1787.	Venezia, Mike	Mike Venezia's books (i.e., his Getting to Know... series) are published by Scholastic, which has explicitly aligned many of its products. However, the company has not altered Mr. Venezia's books for the CCS and has no plans to do so.
1788.	Venture Academy Online
1789.	Venturing	Venturing is affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America, which is independent of the CCS.
1790.	Verbal Advantage
1791.	Verbal Math Lesson
1792.	Veritas Bible (Veritas Press)	Veritas Bible is a Veritas Press product. Material written directly by Veritas is independent of the CCS.
1793.	Verity Institute
1794.	Versal	Versal enables any interested party to create open platform courses. Each course designer decides whether or not to align to the CCS/NGSS, and that position need not be disclosed in course summary descriptions. Course designers should be contacted individually for clarification.
1795.	Victory Drill Book
1796.	Victus Study Skills System
1797.	Video Math Tutor, The
1798.	Videotext
1799.	Vigilance Media
1800.	Vintage Remedies
1801.	Violin Book, The
1802.	Violin Lab, The
1803.	Virtlab
1804.	Virtual Homeschool Group
1805.	Virtual Instructor, The
1806.	Vis-Ed
1807.	Vision Video
1808.	Visualize World Geography

1809.	Visual Latin (Compass Classroom)
1810.	Visual Link Languages
1811.	Visual Manna
1812.	Visual Math Learning
1813.	Visual Thesaurus	Though Visual Thesaurus is not aligned to or correlated with the CCS, the site's creator says it believes the site “supports” the CCS initiative.
1814.	Vocab1 (eReflect)
1815.	VocabAhead
1816.	VocabGrabber	Though VocabGrabber – which is part of Visual Thesaurus - is not aligned to or correlated with the CCS, the site's creator says it believes it “supports” the CCS initiative.
1817.	Vocabulary Cartoons
1818.	Vocabulary.com (Think Map)	Though Vocabulary.com is not aligned to or correlated with the CCS, the site's creator says it believes the site “supports” the CCS initiative.
1819.	Voice Lessons to Go
1820.	VTech	“VTech content is not specifically aligned with the Common Core Standards” and the company does not as of November 2014 “have any plans to align [its] content with CCS in the near future.” It is worth noting that VTech's Mathematics Expert served as a writer for the CCS math standards, but we have no evidence at this time to suggest that he promotes incorporating CCS into VTech products.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1821.	Waldorf Essentials
1822.	WallBuilders
1823.	Walter Foster Publishing	As of now, Walter Foster has no plans to incorporate the CCS into its material. It's possible – though not currently under consideration – that the company may use CCS-related work going forward, as it does “publish [its] books using the best content available and [is] happy to work with educators across the board to define how [its] books can be used to supplement and enrich a curriculum.”

1824.	Warfare by Duct Tape
1825.	Wasko Lit
1826.	Watch My Words
1827.	Way to Happiness, The	As of December 2014, The Way to Happiness was “looking into” ways to align its materials to the CCS, but it is currently independent of the initiative.
1828.	We All Can Read
1829.	Weather Wiz Kids
1830.	Weaver (Alpha-Omega)	Alpha-Omega has purposed to avoid using any CCS-related resources when making any revisions to any of its product lines, including Weaver.
1831.	Webucator
1832.	We Choose Virtues	We Choose Virtues may choose to show correlations to the CCS in a product line marketed to public schools, but it has not done so at this time.
1833.	Wee Bee World	Wee Bee World may correlate its content to the CCS at some point but has no immediate plans to do so.
1834.	Wee Folk Art	Wee Folk Art's “Simple Seasons schedules an optional alphabet and phonics introduction into the program,” recommending the use of “the Explode the Code series books A, B, and C as a starting point.” Explode the Code is correlated to the CCS, but users can substitute a different program if desired to avoid CCS connections.
1835.	Weider History Group Publications American History America's Civil War Aviation History British Heritage Civil War Times Military History Military History Quarterly Vietnam Wild West World War II
1836.	Well-Trained Mind, The	Though Susan Wise Bauer's own educational materials are not aligned, she recommends resources from a wide variety of publishers in

		The Well-Trained Mind (TWTM). The CCS did not exist when TWTM was first published, and the book's latest edition came out in 2009 (just prior to the introduction of the CCS), but some of the providers mentioned in the book may have since chosen to align. Thus, readers seeking non-aligned resources should check out the CCS position of the entities discussed in TWTM.
1837.	Wesleyan Publishing House	Wesleyan Publishing House “partners with David C. Cook for our children’s curriculum.” David C. Cook's material is independent of the CCS.
1838.	Western Christian Academy	Western Christian Academy uses Alpha-Omega product lines for all of its courses.
1839.	We the People Fight Tyranny Game
1840.	What Do We Do All Day?
1841.	What's in the Bible?
1842.	Wheelock's Latin
1843.	Whistlefritz
1844.	White Mountain Puzzles
1845.	Who Says You Can't Memorize? (Lord's Press)
1846.	Wikki Stix
1847.	Wildflower Toys
1848.	Williams-Sonoma Kids' Culinary Classes
1849.	WiloStar3D	WiloStar3D is aligned to pre-CCS Florida state standards, not the CCS, and has chosen after careful study to remain as such. Though it does primarily recommend Teaching Textbooks (non-aligned) for math, it may suggest other math programs at parent request. Those wanting to avoid the CCS should confirm the CCS status of the recommendations before proceeding.
1850.	Wilson Hill Academy	Some regular classes offered by Wilson Hill Academy do not include any aligned books, but others utilize both correlated (i.e., Jane Schaffer Writing Program) and explicitly aligned (i.e., Math in Focus, secondary-level Singapore Math) resources. Additionally, the academy offers a number of AP courses, and while those are not directly covered by the CCS because they are the equivalent of freshmen-level college courses, it's worth noting that all AP courses must be approved by the College Board and that the College Board is in the process of changing AP courses and tests to “reconcile” AP with the CCS. In order to maintain College Board approval, Wilson Hill Academy AP classes will have to make related changes as well.

1851.	Windy City Stories (Trailblazer Books)
1852.	Winning with Writing (Jac Kris Publishing)
1853.	Winston Grammar
1854.	Winter Promise
1855.	Wise Reckoning
1856.	Wittenberg Academy
1857.	WOLFe PACK, The
1858.	WolframAlpha	Though Wolfram Programming Lab is both independent of and explicitly aligned to the CCS – see note below – WolframAlpha, as a research tool, has no content connection to the CCS.
1859.	Wolfram Programming Lab	Wolfram Programming Lab's content is rather “open source” - i.e., it is written by any of the site's users. As such, it includes a fair amount of material that has been written specifically to the CCS, and Wolfram has also partnered with CK-12, which is explicitly aligned to the CCS. However, some content is independent of the CCS, and one may access the latter without reference to the former.
1860.	WonderMaps (Bright Ideas Press)
1861.	Woodside Learning Center	Woodside Learning Center is not interested in changing anything to align or correlate with the CCS. It does offer an optional AP track for one history course, and is, therefore, listed on the Ancillary Connections list with an explanatory note for that course. But everything else the author/tutor provides is otherwise independent of the CCS.
1862.	WordPlay Shakespeare (The New Book Press)
1863.	Wordsworth Editions
1864.	Wordsmiths (Frode Jensen)

1865.	WordUp! The Vocab Show (Compass Classroom)
1866.	Word Web Vocabulary (Sage Education Enterprises)
1867.	Worksheet Fun
1868.	Worksheet Genius	Worksheet Genius is designed around the UK National Curriculum.
1869.	Worksheetplace.com	Worksheetplace.com content has not been altered for the CCS, and the site does not advertise correlations even though the author acknowledges that many of the worksheets do fit the CCS framework.
1870.	Works People, The
1871.	World Atlas	World Atlas may consider the CCS at some point but has no immediate plans to do so.
1872.	World History Institute
1873.	WORLD Magazine
1874.	Worldview Academy
1875.	Worldview Matters (Ablaze Publications)
1876.	Worldview Weekend
1877.	WowzaBrain
1878.	Wow Writing Workshop
1879.	Wright on Time
1880.	Write at Home
1881.	Write Bonnie Rose
1882.	Write for Success Today
1883.	Write Foundation, The
1884.	Write from History (Brookdale House)
1885.	Write from the Heart	One Write from the Heart course is Advanced Placement (AP), which has ancillary connections with the CCS (as noted on the lists of material with Ancillary Connections and Standardized Tests). But non-AP Write from the Heart material is independent of the initiative.
1886.	Write Minded Education	Write Minded Education may choose at some point to demonstrate correlations to the CCS but has no immediate plans to do so in a formal way.

1887.	Write More
1888.	Write-On Handwriting
1889.	WriteShop
1890.	Write Stuff Adventure (Great Expectations Book Co.)
1891.	Write through the Bible
1892.	Write with WORLD
1893.	Writing and Spelling Road to Reading and Thinking (The Riggs Institute)
1894.	Writing for Today (Frontier 2000 Media)
1895.	Writing Foundations
1896.	Writing Strands
1897.	Writing Tales
1898.	Writing with Ease (Peace Hill Press)
1899.	Writing with Kris	Writing with Kris has “not incorporated Common Core Standards per se into [her] teaching materials. Of course...CCS [may be] woven throughout the material that [she teaches], but [she has] not taken the time, nor [does she] plan to take the time, to identify how specifically.”
1900.	Writing with Sharon Watson

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1901.	XtraMath	Because XtraMath simply focuses on math fact fluency, it hasn't made any adjustments (neither alignment for nor showing specific correlations to) the CCS. However, one introductory video on the home page shows a visual of a CCS-related test in conjunction with visuals of other tests.

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1902.	Yancy Ministries
1903.	Yay Math!
1904.	Yesterday's Classics
1905.	You ARE an Artist! (Chalk Pastel)
1906.	Young Marines
1907.	Young Scholars Guides

	RESOURCE	NOTES
	(Bright Ideas Press)
1908.	Young Scientists Club, The
1909.	Your Story Hour
1910.	YouScience
1911.	YouthDigital	YouthDigital may consider correlating or aligning with the CCS in the future, but it has given no consideration to doing so at this time.
1912.	YWAM Publishing

	RESOURCE	NOTES
1913.	Zazzy Learning Games
1914.	Zeezok Publishing	The publisher of Zeezok materials has not read the CCS and is not inclined to change anything in his materials for the CCS. After he eventually reads the CCS, he may “update” his materials if he “feel[s] there is something of worth included in them that we are missing,” but he has no immediate plans to do so.
1915.	zeroBio	zeroBio is aligned to the Ontario (Canada) science curriculum.
1916.	Zinn Education Project
1917.	Zion Academy of America	Zion Academy uses Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) and ILS Market materials, both of which are independent of the CCS.
1918.	Zoe & Sozo Publishing (Matthew Christian Harding)
1919.	Zoobean
1920.	Zoobooks Publications	